GETTYSBURG HIGH COMMENCEMENT SUNDAY EVENING

Gettysburg High School commencement-baccalaureate exercises will be held Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the 1,500-seat school auditorium when members of the graduating class will receive their diplomas from Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Don McGarey, professor of education at the Pennsylvania State University. His subject will be "The World and Apple Pie."

Diplomas will be presented to 108 members of the graduating class.

Choir Will Sing
After the processional in which the seniors, the faculty and the school directors will take part, the audience will sing "Holy, Holy, Holy." There will be three musical selections by the High School Choir under the direction of Paul W. Grove. Dr. McGarey's address will follow.

Then the names of the seniors will be read by High School Principal Guile W. Lefever and the class and the class will sing the "Alma Mater." After the presentation of diplomas by Superintendent Riegle, an offering will be received for the benefit of the A.M.E. Zion Church and the audience will sing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Father of two members of the graduating class will give the invocation and benediction. They will be, respectively, the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, and the Rev. Edw. E. Korte, Gettysburg College chaplain.

An organ will provide music for the exercises instead of the high school band as in other years.

D. E. TEETER IS NEW OXFORD'S MAY 30 SPEAKER

"Memorial Day should be a day of dedication to remembrance, reflection and to taking stock of whether we are putting first things first in our lives," said D. E. Teeter, speaker at the annual Memorial Day services at New Oxford.

Attorney Teeter spoke at exercises held at the Sons of Veterans armory following a parade through the streets of New Oxford and ritual services in the two cemeteries there. Arrangements for the activities were made under the direction of Theodore Piffer, Camp 60, SUV of New Oxford.

Noting the origin of Memorial Day in accordance with General Logan's order of 1868, Attorney Teeter added "the day originally was to mark the dead of the Civil War. Today it marks not only the dead of all wars, but all of our dead."

"Our Challenge"
"Those who have gone before us challenge us to live by principle, to be good citizens and good members of our families. The last thoughts of those who died were of home. We ought, in rededicating ourselves anew to carry on the causes they so nobly advanced, to begin at home, by working, studying, playing and praying together. Such family life would solve many of our domestic problems if we do it with a sense of oneness—a sense of belonging to the family such as we experience this day when we go to our cemeteries and for a moment are in a sense once again

IKE GOLFING AGAIN TODAY

President Eisenhower, who got in nine holes of golf here Friday evening after arriving by helicopter from Washington, will go on the Gettysburg Country Club golf course again at 8:03 o'clock this morning.

On Friday he played with General Arthur Nevins of Gettysburg. This morning he was joined by General Nevins and Major John Eisenhower. While they were on the course, the President's 10-year-old grandson David, was taking a golf lesson from Pro Dick Schleicher at the country club.

The group finished 18 holes just before 11 a.m. and returned to the farm.

President Eisenhower came here Friday after taking part in the ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery honoring the two unknown dead of the last two wars. Mrs. Eisenhower came here by auto a few hours ahead of the President.

On Monday, President Eisenhower will go to Mount St. Mary's College where he will deliver the commencement address and receive an honorary degree. Afterwards he will return to Washington.

Expect Showdown Today On De Gaulle's Bid For Power

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle served notice on French political leaders today he will go before the National Assembly Sunday seeking full powers as premier.

De Gaulle gave politicians who have not yet agreed to vote for him just five hours to make up their minds.

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle pressed today for a showdown on his bid to take over the French government legally.

A decision was expected soon. The key Socialist party was reported swinging toward approving De Gaulle as premier with the full powers he demands. The general planned to meet with the Socialists and other center parties.

The 97 Socialist deputies planned a morning meeting to reconsider their opposition to the World War II hero.

The Socialists have been torn between fears that if they grant power to De Gaulle he would become a dictator but if they reject him France might be torn by civil war.

Six Hurt In Fighting

The widespread fears of civil war were sharpened Friday night by the first serious outbreak of violence reported since the crisis began May 13.

Supporters of the general were demonstrating in automobiles on the Champs Elysees when anti-Gaullists attacked their cars. A flying squad of the police forces

S. R. HAFFER IS GIVEN INSIGNIA BY GEN. FRANK

Sebastian R. Hafer, E. Water St., received his promotion to major in the U. S. Army Reserve at a brief ceremony in National Cemetery Friday afternoon.

Maj. Gen. J. Calvin Frank, commanding officer of the 79th Division of the U. S. Army Reserve, pinned the bronze oak leaves symbolic of the rank of major on the local resident and presented him with the papers marking the advance of rank.

The ceremony took place at the Lincoln Speech Memorial, rear the rostrum in the cemetery, immediately after the Memorial Day services here. U. S. Assistant Secretary of War George H. Roderick, who had been the speaker at the Memorial exercises a few moments before, stood by for the ceremony and congratulated Hafer afterward.

The local officer entered the Army in 1943 and after basic training and a year's service in training camp cadre was assigned to the officers candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga. Following his graduation as a second lieutenant he was assigned for a period to Camp Gordon, Ga. and then sent overseas to the Pacific.

TWO SISTERS DIE WITHIN 15 HOURS

Two sisters, Mrs. Cora M. Hertz, 72, of 415 Baltimore St., and Mrs. Emma Elizabeth Storm, 202 Eagle Ave., both of Hanover, died within 15 hours Friday.

Another sister, Mrs. Annie S. Miller, Hanover, widow of John Thomas Miller, died May 19 and was buried May 22.

The women were daughters of the late Michael and Mary Bowers Schevert.

A fourth sister, Mrs. William Blettner, Blettner Ave., Hanover, survives.

Mrs. Hertz, who was in ill health since May 5 and was bedfast since May 14, died at her home at 3:22 a.m. Her husband, Joseph H. Hertz, died April 3, 1952.

Belonged To Same Church
Mrs. Storm died at 5:45 p.m. in the Hanover Hospital, where she was admitted at 11:30 a.m. Her husband, Austin S. Storm, died August 14, 1951.

Both women were members of St. Joseph's Catholic Church and the Altar and Rosary Society. Mrs. Hertz was also a member of Hanover Chapter 923, Women of the Moose.

Mrs. Hertz is also survived by six children, Roger B. Hertz, York; Mrs. Robert Gotwalt, Raymond M. Hertz Sr., both of Hanover; Louise E. and Merle J. Hertz, both at home, and Earl H. Hertz, Hanover, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hertz will be held Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. with prayers at her late home following the service.

Police Join In Race And Youth Crashes

A race between two teen-age youths on a legislative route three miles west of McSherrystown led to a crash of one of the cars into an embankment when a police officer became the third car in the race at 10:16 o'clock Friday night.

State police said they came upon two autos racing and gave chase. One of the cars halted when the driver became aware that police were following.

According to the officers, the driver of the other car, whom they said was Sterling L. Leese, 19, Hanover R. 5, sought to outrun the police car. Leese, the police said, was traveling about 70 miles an hour on the winding country road when his car hit an embankment and overturned.

Leese was uninjured in the crash, according to police.

KIWANIS TO PUT ON RODEO

The Kiwanis Club will sponsor a rodeo show on June 12 and 13 at the Gettysburg High School athletic field, its officers announced today. The rodeo is known as the "Circle X Ranch, Inc." Formerly of Florida, the rodeo is now located at Sykesville, Md., where it holds weekly shows. Last year they were on WGAL weekly, and have shown at Yankee stadium, Bing Crosby stadium and Madison Square Garden.

Their location at Sykesville includes 480 acres of grazing land, rodeo arena, about 700 head of stock and personnel for operation and maintenance. It is described as one of the finest rodeos in the country, club officials said.

The show lasts about one hour and fifty minutes and includes bucking bronchos, steer throwing, calf tying by cow boys and cow girls. There are a number of specialty acts and other entertainment and amusement, including clown acts, the Kiwanians said.

In case of rain, the show will be held June 16 and 17. Tickets will be available at Peoples Drug Store, Coffman's Jewelry Store, Thomas Texaco Service Station, or from any member of the Kiwanis Club. Herbert Hamme, Kiwanis president, said.

President Eisenhower Gives Medals Of Honor At Burials Of 2 Unknown War Veterans

By ELTON C. FAY
ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—With pomp and pageantry ended, the Unknown Warriors of World War II and Korea were at rest today on a hill overlooking the capital, the nation for which they died.

Under Friday's warm sun, the two Unknowns—representing all the nameless dead of the most recent wars—were brought to the tomb where for almost 37 years, the Unknown Soldier of World War I has slept alone.

There were marching troops, the subdued music of bands, artillery salutes and a fly-over of jets. Prayers were said and the President of the United States bestowed Medals of Honor on the two nameless Americans.

115,000 See Procession
An estimated 115,000 persons lined the route of the funeral procession. Thousands more packed the amphitheater at the Arlington National Cemetery and stood in the sun to watch the ceremony.

But at dusk Friday night there was the final burial act of the drama that opened weeks ago.

In silence, the uniformed body bearers stood at hand salute, the two civilian officials each placed his hand over his heart.

A few spoken commands and the two bodies were lowered into the ground. The few onlookers drifted back to the darkness of their homes.

Coffins Sink Into Crypts

As the lights of Washington twinkled across the Potomac, the nine body bearers filed onto the plaza and drew to attention. Behind them stood perhaps half a United States.

The superintendent of the national cemetery and his assistants stepped forward. Each unfurled chains restraining the caskets.

In the dim light, the two bronze coffins sank slowly into the crypts.

ESTIMATE CROWD OF 10,000 SAW MAY 30 PARADE

The crowd which jammed Gettysburg streets Friday for the annual Memorial Day parade was estimated by members of the Memorial Day committee who marched along the nine blocks of the parade route at 10,000. They said there seemed to be solid lines along both sides of the street for the entire parade area.

At the cemetery, the crowd was estimated at 3,000 for the strewing of flowers and ceremonies.

Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts were present in larger quantities than ever before and the three unit system of the Boy Scouts was displayed most effectively by Troops 73 and 79 of Gettysburg, both of which had all three units participating. Explorers, Scouts and Cubs in large numbers. Hunterstown Cub Scout and Scout Troop 78 and Cub Pack 78 were among others with the Scouts.

Bands With Children

Nearly all of the local Girl Scout units, Intermediates and Seniors, were represented in the procession.

Three bands marched for the first time with the school children and there were numerous comments that the change improved the appearance of the annual parade.

The speaker, Assistant Secretary of the Army George H. Roderick, General J. Calvin Frank, commanding officer of the 79th Division, and other guests and the committee formed a reviewing line for the parade as it moved through Lincoln Square. In prior years the committee and guests had remained in cars while the parade passed. This year the group formed a long line in front of the cars at the square.

One of the horses in the parade became excited on Baltimore St. near Lincoln Square and Aide Jack Bucher jumped from the animal and led it away before it became too unruly.

Old Custom Revived

An old custom was revived for the parade when a car filled with flowers appeared "In Memoriam GAR." In earlier years a carriage filled with flowers was a feature of the annual procession.

The National Cemetery was a riot of color for the observance. Those attending the exercises found that the families of the more than 600 World War II dead buried in the cemetery had almost all remembered their dead with large, brilliant floral displays. The school children, present in larger numbers this year, also seemed to have more flowers than usual to place on the graves of the Civil War dead.

FORREST BREAM EXPIRES AT 55

Forrest I. Bream, 55, Aspers R. 1, died this morning at his home at 8:55 o'clock from the effects of a paralytic stroke. He had been in ill health for three months and returned to his home Wednesday from Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where he had been a patient for 10 days.

The deceased was born in Adams County, a son of Harvey I. Bream, Idaville, and the late Rosie E. (Day) Bream. He was a carpenter by trade and was a member of Centenary EUB Church, Biglerville.

Surviving are his widow, the former Effie C. Armsberger; seven children, George H. R. 2; Mrs. George Olinger, Gettysburg; Mrs. Glen Black, Gardners R. 2; Kenneth I. Biglerville R. 1; Stanley C. Six Hurt In Fighting

The widespread fears of civil war were sharpened Friday night by the first serious outbreak of violence reported since the crisis began May 13.

Supporters of the general were demonstrating in automobiles on the Champs Elysees when anti-Gaullists attacked their cars. A flying squad of the police forces

S. R. HAFTER IS GIVEN INSIGNIA BY GEN. FRANK

Sebastian R. Hafter, E. Water St., received his promotion to major in the U. S. Army Reserve at a brief ceremony in National Cemetery Friday afternoon.

Maj. Gen. J. Calvin Frank, commanding officer of the 79th Division of the U. S. Army Reserve, pinned the bronze oak leaves symbolic of the rank of major on the local resident and presented him with the papers marking the advance of rank.

The ceremony took place at the Lincoln Speech Memorial, near the rostrum in the cemetery, immediately after the Memorial Day services here. U. S. Assistant Secretary of War George H. Roderick, who had been the speaker at the Memorial exercises a few moments before, stood by for the ceremony and congratulated Hafter afterward.

The local officer entered the Army in 1943 and after basic training and a year's service in training camp cadre was assigned to the officers candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga. Following his graduation as a second lieutenant, he was assigned for a period to Camp Gordon, Ga., and then sent overseas to the Pacific.

Children Strewing Flowers Here Friday

One of the most impressive spectacles during the annual Memorial Day services at the Gettysburg National Cemetery is the strewing of flowers by the school children. A portion of the 1,000 who placed flowers on the graves Friday are shown as they performed that duty. (Times photo)

J. G. BEIDLER TO GRADUATE AT BUCKNELL

Bucknell University will confer bachelor degrees upon approximately 310 seniors and honorary degrees upon six distinguished guests at its 108th annual commencement Monday, June 9, at Lewisburg.

Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president emeritus of Princeton University, will give the commencement address and Dr. Carrol O. Morong, headmaster of the Peddie School, will preach the sermon at baccalaureate services the preceding evening.

Commencement festivities will get under way Saturday, June 7, with the observance of Alumni Day, highlighted by the laying of the cornerstone for Coleman Hall. Made possible by a grant of $147,500 from the Olin Foundation.

J. G. BEIDLER

Inc., the structure will be Bucknell's largest classroom building. At the graduation exercises Monday morning in Davis Gymnasium, President Odgers will award the diplomas.

Among the candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science is J. Garry Beidler, son of Mrs. J. Willis Beidler, N. Main St., Biglerville.

During his college career Beidler was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, academic honorary fraternity. He is a member of Phi Sigma, biology honorary, the Premedical Society, and the band. He is also a member of Kappa Sigma, social fraternity. Beidler has been accepted at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, which he will attend next year.

ASSISTANT NAMED

Miss Ruth Gordon, McConnellsburg, a senior at Indiana State Teachers College, will assist Mrs. Helen Tunison, associate county home economist, with 4-H Club work this summer. It was announced today, Miss Gordon is majoring in home economics at the college.

Police Join In Race And Youth Crashes

A race between two teen-age youths on a legislative route three miles west of McSherrystown led to a crash of one of the cars into an embankment when a police officer became the third car in the race at 10:15 o'clock Friday night.

State police said they came upon two autos racing and gave chase. One of the cars halted when the driver became aware that police were following.

According to the officers, the driver of the other car, whom they said was Sterling L. Leese, 19, Hanover R. 5, sought to outrun the police car. Leese, the police said, was traveling about 70 miles an hour on the winding country road when his car hit an embankment and overturned.

Leese was uninjured in the crash, according to police.

KIWANIANS TO PUT ON RODEO

The Kiwanis Club will sponsor a rodeo show on June 12 and 13 at the Gettysburg High School athletic field, its officers announced today.

The rodeo is known as the "Circle X Ranch, Inc." Formerly of Florida, the rodeo is now located at Sykesville, Md., where it holds weekly shows. Last year they were on WGAL weekly, and have shown at Yankee stadium, Bing Crosby stadium and Madison Square Garden.

Their location at Sykesville includes 480 acres of grazing land, rodeo arena, about 700 head of stock and personnel for operation and maintenance. It is described as one of the finest rodeos in the country, club officials said.

The show lasts about one hour and fifty minutes and includes bucking bronchos, steer throwing, calf tying by cow boys and cow girls. There are a number of speciality acts and other entertainment and amusement, including clown acts, the Kiwanians said.

In case of rain, the show will be held June 16 and 17. Tickets will be available at Peoples Drug Store, Coffman's Jewelry Store, Thomas Texaco Service Station, or from any member of the Kiwanis Club, Herbert Hamme, Kiwanis president, said.

President Eisenhower Gives Medals Of Honor At Burials Of 2 Unknown War Veterans

By ELTON C. FAY
ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—With pomp and pageantry ended, the Unknown warriors of World War II and Korea were at rest today on a hill overlooking the capital of the nation for which they died.

Under Friday's warm sun, the two nameless dead—representing all the nameless dead of the most recent wars—were brought to the tomb where for almost 37 years the Unknown Soldier of World War I has slept alone.

There were marching troops, the subdued music of bands, artillery salutes and a fly-over of jets. Prayers were said and the President of the United States bestowed Medals of Honor on the two nameless Americans.

115,000 See Procession
An estimated 115,000 persons lined the route of the funeral procession. Thousands more packed the amphitheater at the Arlington National Cemetery and stood in tribute as the twin bronze caskets were placed above open crypts.

But at dusk Friday night there was the final, lonely act of the drama that opened weeks ago when selection of the Unknowns began across the seas.

In the gloaming, the two were buried.

Only a few remained of the thousands who had thronged the cemetery during the formal services.

Coffins Sink Into Crypts
As the lights of Washington twinkled on across the Potomac, the nine body bearers filed onto the plaza and drew to attention. Behind them stood perhaps half a hundred spectators.

The superintendent of the national cemetery and his assistant stepped forward. Each unfastened chains restraining the caskets.

In the dying light, the two bronze coffins sank slowly into the crypts.

In silence, the uniformed body bearers stood at hand salute, the two civilian officials each placed his hand over his heart.

At a low spoken command, the file of bearers turned. Their heels clacked in unison on the stone floor. The few onlookers drifted away down the darkened drives.

ESTIMATE CROWD OF 10,000 SAW MAY 30 PARADE

The crowd which jammed Gettysburg streets Friday for the annual Memorial Day parade was estimated by members of the Memorial Day committee who marched along the nine blocks of the parade route at 10,000. They said there seemed to be solid lines along both sides of the street for the entire parade area.

At the cemetery, the crowd was estimated at 3,000 for the strewing of flowers and ceremonies.

Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts were present in larger quantities than ever before and the three unit system of the Boy Scouts was displayed most effectively by Troops 73 and 79 of Gettysburg, both of which had all three units participating. Explorers, Scouts and Cubs in large numbers. Hunterstown Cub Scout and Scout Troop 78 and Cub Pack 78 were among others with the Scouts.

Bands With Children

Nearly all of the local Girl Scout units, Intermediates and Seniors, were represented in the procession.

Three bands marched for the first time with the school children and there were numerous comments that the change improved the appearance of the annual parade.

The speaker, Assistant Secretary of the Army George H. Roderick; General J. Calvin Frank, commanding officer of the 79th Division, and other guests and the committee formed a reviewing line for the parade as it moved through Lincoln Square. In prior years the committee and guests had remained in cars while the parade passed. This year the group formed a long line in front of the cars at the square.

One of the horses in the parade became excited on Baltimore St. near Lincoln Square and Aide Jack Bucher jumped from the animal and led it away before it became too unruly.

Old Custom Revived

An old custom was revived for the parade when a car filled with flowers appeared "In Memoriam GAR." In earlier years a carriage filled with flowers was a feature of the annual procession.

The National Cemetery was a riot of color for the observance. Those attending the exercises found that the families of the more than 600 World War II dead buried in the cemetery had almost all remembered their dead with large, brilliant floral displays. The school children, present in larger numbers this year, also seemed to have more flowers than usual to place on the graves of the Civil War dead.

FORREST BREAM EXPIRES AT 55

You're Transported By Your Loyalties On Memorial Day

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—On Memorial Day you might as well put the moral at the start: "Keep living!"

The purpose of the dead is for us to be. They ran out of breath for us.

On this day of national recognition of mortality, time gives us a pause. This pause gives us time to reflect. We jubilee the past and hold a heart-coming for the dear dead.

It's An Opportunity

It is an opportunity to admire your ancestors. There under known stars they glimmer unknown forever. They pursue here.

It is a day to honor a husband, brother, son, or friend, dead or away—and absence is a form of death.

The whole problem of Memorial Day is one of transportation. You are transported by your loyalties, and remembrance.

Neither Altogether Alone

Life hesitates. The eternal glow of ambition is reduced to a grumble. Yet a son, as he sheds a tear on the grave of his father, wants to step farther and be buried near.

Here on the hill of a moment, a humanity afraid of itself flies the flag all people salute—the one that waits for the ones who went before.

It would be nice on Memorial Day if neither the dead nor the living were altogether alone.

HARRISBURG (P)—The Republican State Committee has set June 21 for its biennial reorganization meeting in Philadelphia.

George I. Bloom, GOP state chairman, declined to say if he would seek re-election to the organization's top post.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

HANDY HUBBY SEWS DRESSES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (P)—Mrs. Shirley Ramsey doesn't worry about her clothes — her husband makes all of them.

He turns out chiffons, satins and beaded gowns at what he estimates is a $75 savings. He's been designing and making the dresses for nine years.

George Ramsey majored in fine arts at the University of New Mexico. He formerly was a technical director of the Little Theatre here and now is a free lance commercial artist, designer of floral arrangements and fashion coordinator at fashion shows and stage productions.

He does his sewing as three young Ramseys and two puppies romp through the house.

Mrs. Ramsey is 5 feet 6 and has no figure problems, he says. Sometimes he creates a dress on paper; sometimes as he goes along. At times he fits it as he makes it; at other times he sews from a pattern.

"Any man familiar with construction fields, interior decorating, color, line and detail should be able to sew," he says.

He not only makes his wife's clothes — he made all the furniture in their home, also.

FOUR KILLED

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Four persons were killed in the Moslem quarter of Beirut early Thursday in a clash between civilian partisans of the government and the opposition.

Sporadic shooting was heard in various sectors of Beirut during the night, after the city had gone through the calmest 24 hours in the past 20 days.

TWO TV DRAMAS DEVELOP INTO POPULAR NOVEL

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous novels have been made into television dramas, but now—for the first time—there comes the case of two popular TV dramas growing into a popular novel.

Viewers surely remember two Playhouse 90 (CBS-TV) dramas by Ellick Moll concerning a warm-hearted New York dress manufacturer, Morris Seidman: "Seidman and Son" starring Eddie Cantor, in October 1956, and "The Gentleman from Seventh Avenue" starring Walter Slezak, last January.

Now, with the publication of Moll's "Seidman and Son" by Putnam, it appears the Seidmans, father and son, will be as popular with readers as with TV viewers. The novel is a current selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, has been purchased by the Reader's Digest Book Club, and its publisher is inundated with orders. Already yet, as Seidman would say, Broadway producers want Moll to make a play of it.

Moll Is Surprised

Moll is frankly surprised. The credit, he feels, goes to Seidman rather than Moll.

"Morris Seidman literally seemed to walk into my study," he said the other day. "I rushed into the kitchen and told my wife about him and she said, 'Go back and write, idiot.' So I went back and wrote."

Seidman strolled into Moll's life one day in 1956, bringing with him many of the qualities of Moll's deceased father and father-in-law, both New York garment manufacturers.

First Moll wrote a story about Seidman, which was the basis for his "Playhouse 90" script. Then he wrote another story — and another TV script from that.

"Even after that second script," he says, "Seidman still wouldn't go away. So I sat down at my typewriter and after a while there was 350 pages finished. My agent sent it to Putnam and they took it immediately."

The book critics generally have responded as warmly to Seidman's warmth as did the television critics.

DEMOTED BUT GETS RAISE IN PA. SHAKEUP

HARRISBURG (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Gray Horting, secretary of public assistance in Gov. George Leader's cabinet, was downgraded today to a commissioner in the new Public Welfare Department that goes into effect tomorrow.

The governor and Public Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro said Mrs. Horting, a Lancaster Democrat who had been mentioned to fill the vacancy of secretary of the Commonwealth, would never receive a pay boost.

She received $15,000 a year as head of the public assistance department which is now being merged with the welfare department. As commissioner of public assistance, she will receive $16,000 a year.

Boost For Shapiro

Shapiro, who himself received a $10,000-a-year boost to $20,000, made no mention of the role Robert P. Wray, deputy secretary of public assistance, would play in the merged department. Presumably, he would become an assistant commissioner to Mrs. Horting.

The commissioner designations in the new department were the result of recommendations made by a special committee to the governor. Leader described the work of the committee as "objective and nonpartisan" and said the merger was "a vital step in the reorganization of state government."

Norman V. Louis, who had been deputy welfare secretary for social welfare, received deputy secretaryship in the new department as did Dr. Robert A. Matthews, who is the $25,000-a-year mental health commissioner.

Shapiro said a new man is being sought to succeed Dr. Matthews who plans to leave soon to assume a psychiatric post with Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia.

County Women To Attend Program

A number of Adams County homemakers will "keep abreast of the latest trends and arts in homemaking," Mrs. Helen Tunison, extension home economist, said today, by attending Extension Homemakers' Week, June 16 to 19, at the Pennsylvania State University. The program, she said, offers "the opportunity for women to select four interests groups in various subject matter areas of homemaking."

Mrs. Richard G. E. Cline, Gettysburg; Mrs. John Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 2; and Mrs. Pauline Crouse, Gettysburg R. 4, will attend the four-day sessions. Mrs. Crouse will be attending for her third year. Some of the topics chosen by the three Adams County homemakers are: "Home Grounds Improvement," "Art of Listening," "Homemakers Chorus," "Pep up Meals," and "Time Management."

PARIS (AP)—All 14 persons — 16 of them French soldiers—died early today in the crash of a commercial airline C-123 in Algeria.

An official of the airline, Air France, said the plane crashed about six miles southwest of Mollers. It was bound from Algiers south to Tindouf and crashed about one hour after takeoff.

Cause of the crash was not immediately known.

MANY FILE PAST CARDINAL'S BIER IN CHURCH TODAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Thousands of persons came in mourning today and filed silently past the bier of their beloved Samuel Cardinal Stritch.

The body of the 70-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago will be in state in Holy Name Cathedral until the funeral Tuesday.

Huge bells tolled as mourners passed through the black and purple draped entrances of the cathedral, where the cardinal had served for 18 years.

Churches Draped

An estimated quarter of a million persons lined the 14-mile route of a caravan which brought the body to the cathedral Friday after it arrived at O'Hare Field from Rome.

Catholic churches along the route were draped in purple and black, and groups of uniformed school children chanting rosary beads stood before several Catholic schools passed by the caravan.

The cardinal left Chicago April 15 to take up his new work as a member of the Roman Curia and as prefect of the Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith — honors never before given by the Roman Catholic church to an American-born prelate.

Cardinal Of Charity

Before he arrived in Rome he was stricken with a blood clot which necessitated amputation of his right arm. He seemed to recover quickly, but was stricken again May 16 and died last Tuesday.

The venerated clergyman was known during his 18 years as head of the Chicago archdiocese as the cardinal of charity.

The funeral Mass will be a solemn pontifical requiem Mass. The Mass celebrant will be the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani of Washington, D.C., apostolic delegate to the United States.

Entombment will be in the mausoleum for Chicago bishops in Mount Carmel Cemetery in suburban Hillside.

with those whom we knew and loved in bygone days.

"To dedicate ourselves to those who have died we need to determine to be better citizens, to assume our responsibilities to the community, to not let John do it, but to do our full share of the community work."

"We need, too, to act on principle, and not because some group or some other person acts. We need to have a deeper respect for law and deeper devotion to our religion."

"This is the challenge that is ours today."

C. P. Keefer, county superintendent of schools, presided at the exercises.

Y. S. Churches To Hold Daily Bible School

The Lutheran and Methodist churches of York Springs will again sponsor a community Daily Vacation Bible School. The school will be held the weeks of June 9 and 16. Monday through Fridays, from 9 a.m. till 11:15 a.m.

All children of the community, ages four through 12, are urged to attend. They should report to the Methodist church for assembly on the opening morning where they will receive instruction and direction for their regular group meeting places. All children attending seven sessions will receive a certificate of attendance.

Teamsters Picket Inquirer Building

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Members of Teamsters Local 628 established picket lines around the Philadelphia Inquirer Friday night halting distribution of this morning's editions.

The local also represents truck drivers at the Philadelphia Bulletin, the Philadelphia Daily News and the Camden, N.J., Courier-Post. The local's contract with the Inquirer, the Bulletin and Courier-Post, expired midnight Thursday. The contract with the News runs until September.

A Teamster local official who declined to be identified said the union was attempting to eliminate from the contract a clause which permits drivers to be penalized for refusing to deliver papers across picket lines.

Deaths Mount On Highways Across U.S.; 134 By Noon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dead on the nation's highways piled up on schedule today and brought renewed pleas from safety officials as the three-day Memorial Day weekend moved toward the half-way mark.

As the first day of the 76-hour weekend ended, safety experts were cautiously optimistic that the first long holiday of the summer might take a slightly lesser toll than the 390 predicted.

However, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, noted today the figure was running about on schedule, if not slightly higher than earlier estimates.

Ask Extra Caution

He re-emphasized his plea that "motorists exert extra caution" in view of the unusually heavy volume of traffic jamming the highways.

The toll ran close to the pace which ended up as a record for a three-day Memorial Day weekend in 1955 when 390 died in traffic pile ups.

The growing list of accidents was a mixture of tragedy and irony.

A Soldier's Bravery

A soldier at Alton, Okla., dragged three men safely from their wrecked and burning car, despite warnings from bystanders of a possible gasoline explosion.

He accidentally touched a high voltage line knocked down by the car and was electrocuted.

Seven persons were hospitalized with varying injuries in a smashing two-car collision near Hidalgo, Ill. One of the passengers was killed.

An Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes, showed 294 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the 76-hour non-holiday period from 6 p. m. Thursday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 18. The current tabulation which began at the same time Thursday ended at midnight Sunday local time.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Far and away the finest first flight I ever made."

CONSTRUCTION WORK JUMPS TO AID ECONOMY

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's economy emerged battered but unbowed this week from its toughest spring season in 10 years. From now on, many businessmen felt, the going should be smoother.

Odds were against any surging pickup in the next two months. For basic industries like automobiles and steel, summer is normally a slack season.

A sharp rise in construction contract awards signaled a burst of activity in the months ahead. All signs pointed to a speedup in the building of homes, highways, hospitals, churches, schools and office buildings.

Betting On Recovery

Retailers, pinched less by the recession than most other business groups, were also betting on recovery by autumn. The National Retail Merchants Assn. polled its member stores on their 1958 prospects and came up with these results: sixty-three per cent expect their sales and profits to match or surpass 1957. Most expect their biggest gains to come in the third and fourth quarters.

President Eisenhower said the downward force of the recession is largely spent.

"There is ground to believe," he said, "that the worst of our problems are behind us."

Prospects of a broad tax cut flew out of the window.

The situation, Eisenhower said, does not warrant any tax reduction that would put the government deeper in the red. Congress backed him up.

Weddings

Stock—Whalen

Miss Sandra Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whalen, Providence, R. I., and Albert M. Stock, son of Roy Stock, N. Queen St., Littlestown, and the late Mrs. Stock, were united in marriage on Memorial Day at 2 p.m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Littlestown. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. David S. Kammerer. Mrs. Winfield A. Lippy, church organist, presented a brief recital prior to the ceremony and played during the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a white street length dress with white accessories and carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers. She was attended by Mrs. John M. Connor, sister of the groom, as matron of honor. Mrs. Connor wore a pink street length dress with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother-in-law, John M. Connor.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Feiser, Hanover. The couple are honeymooning in New England.

The bride is a graduate of Providence High School and the girls' branch of Brown University. She received her Master's degree in geology at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, in 1957, and has since been associated with the National Geographic Society in Washington, D. C. Her husband is a graduate of Littlestown High School and Gettysburg College. He also received his Master's degree at Lehigh in 1956, and will be awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy on June 9 at Lehigh University.

Warner—Hamer

The wedding of Miss Delores R. Hamer, daughter of Stewart D. Hamer, Littlestown R. 2, and Clair N. Warner, stepson of the late Joseph H. Phillips, Littlestown R. 2, took place at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Taneytown. The pastor, the Rev. Arthur W. Garvin, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a pink ballerina length gown of nylon and lace over taffeta. She had matching accessories. She carried a Bible, topped with a white orchid, from which fell streamers and stephanotis.

Miss Janet Phillips, Littlestown R. 2, stepdaughter of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She wore a blue ballerina length gown of nylon over taffeta with white accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations and baby's breath. Fern King, Littlestown, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Florida. Upon their return they will reside at Littlestown R. 1.

VIENNA (AP)—Deborah Kerr, the British movie star, said today she and her husband, Anthony Bartley, are estranged.

They are trying to resolve their difficulties, she added.

Miss Kerr is making a film here with Yul Brynner about the 1904 Hungarian revolt.

Bartley, a World War II RAF hero who is now a film and television producer, lives in London. They have been married twelve years and have two girls, 11 and 9.

In 1946 he was placed on reserve status and then was named as first executive officer and later commanding officer of Co E, 313th, the first Army Reserve unit here. He then served for some time as commanding officer of Company A, when the designation of the local unit was changed. He was named a captain in 1952 and transferred to divisional duties with the 79th Division two years ago. Major Hafer currently serves as public information officer for the 79th Division.

YOUNG MOTHER DENIES HOLDUPS IN TWO OFFICES

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — A 28-year-old housewife is free on $10,000 bond after pleading innocent to charges of robbing two savings and loan association offices at gunpoint.

Mrs. Charles Anderson Jr. remained calm at her arraignment Thursday, maintaining the store composure she had displayed most of the time since her arrest by the FBI when she was freed, however, she fainted in her husband's arms.

Mrs. Anderson, described as a model wife and mother, was arrested at her home Thursday. Employees of the City Federal Savings & Loan Assn. and Jefferson Federal Savings & Loan Assn. identified her as the tall attractive blonde who robbed their branches of $2,900.

"I Lead Christian Life"
"I have always led a Christian life, and I am trying to raise my family in a proper manner," Mrs. Anderson told newsmen. "I know that my family and friends will stand by my side in this ordeal."

Mrs. Anderson is the mother of an 8-year-old son and a 15-month-old daughter and is expecting another child.

"The greatest tragedy is the effect this will have on our children, and I am sure that any parent will understand," Mrs. Anderson said.

No Debts
Anderson, manager for an insurance company, said he and his wife had no debts except a small department store bill and a monthly house note.

"My wife can't bear to see children hurt," he said. "I can't imagine her robbing a bank at gunpoint."

The two offices Mrs. Anderson is accused of robbing are both across the street from police headquarters in suburban Homewood.

The maximum penalty for violation of the federal bank robbery statute under which Mrs. Anderson is charged is a fine of $10,000 and 25 years in prison.

State's Needy Cost Less Than Average

HARRISBURG (AP)—It cost an average of $10.32 per man, woman and child to support the needy in Pennsylvania last year.

The Public Assistance Department's annual report Friday showed that expenditures for old age assistance, blind pensions, aid to dependent children and the disabled and general assistance amounted to $131,414,291 for the year, an increase of 6 per cent over 1956.

Of this amount, the federal government paid $60,105,595, or about 46 per cent. The state paid the remainder.

The report said the per capita cost in the Keystone State was lower than seven of the other 10 northeastern states and below the 10-state average of $14.42. It also was under the U. S. per capita of $17.43.

Special Music

Miss Lois Joy Reaser, Gettysburg, the junior bridesmaid, will wear a floor-length gown of white nylon organza over blue taffeta. Its fitted bodice has a draped neckline and cap sleeves and the bouffant skirt has a bustle bow. She will carry a bouquet and wear a crown of yellow daisies.

James Rohrbach, a brother of the bridegroom, York New Salem, a brother of the bridegroom, will be best man. Ushers will be Raymond Shubert, York New Salem, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Jacques Rohrbach, York New Salem, a brother of the bridegroom; Lynn Harbold, York New Salem, and Richard Schrum, Spring Grove.

Music for the service will be provided by Mrs. Jacob Heikinen, Gettysburg, organist, who will play "Arioso," Handel; "Larghetto from Sonata No. 4," Guldman, and "Dreams," McAnis. The wedding march will be from "Lohengrin" and the recessional "Trumpet Voluntary," by Purcell. During the ceremony the congregation will sing "For the Beauty of the Earth" and "O Perfect Love." A vocal quartet comprising the bride's foster father and brothers, Rev. Dr. Reaser and Clayton, Joel and Philip Reaser, will sing "Love Divine, All Lobe Excelling" and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Reception To Follow

For the ceremony, the bride's foster mother, Mrs. Reaser, will wear a powder blue lace dress and powder blue hat with white accessories and a white rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother will wear a blue and lavender flower print on white background chiffon dress with white accessories and white rose corsage.

A reception will be held following the ceremonies at St. James Lutheran Church Social room after which the couple will leave on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. For her going away costume the bride will wear a brown and turquoise silk print dress with white accessories. The couple will reside in York New Salem upon their return from the wedding trip.

Bride To Graduate

During the reception instrumental music will be provided by the following: Clyde Mummert, violin, David Gundrum, cello, and Miss Nancy Kessler, violin.

The bride is a graduate of William Penn Senior High School, York, and will graduate June 8 from Gettysburg College with a Bachelor of Science degree in Music Education. She is a member of the college's capella choir, Delta Gamma Sorority, Gettysburg Honor Society, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and the Student Christian Association.

The bridegroom is a graduate of West York High School and Gettysburg College and has just completed his middle year at Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary.

Out-of-town guests will be present from Kitchener, Ontario, Canada; New York City and Washington, D. C.

ESTIMATE CROWD

Boy and Girl Scouts, and the varicolored garb of the other groups present presented a stirring sight.

4 Men Collapse

Members of the Honor Guard of the 79th Division, wearing aluminum colored helmet liners; members of Co. A, 313th Infantry, the local Army Reserve unit and part of the 79th Division, and the local Howitzer Company of the National Guard stood at attention and then at parade rest before the rostrum for the concluding exercises in the cemetery. Prior to that the groups had taken part in the parade and members served as military police on Lincoln Square, along the parade route and in the cemetery throughout the ritual and flower strewing exercises and while the Honor Guard of the Albert J. Lentz Post of the American Legion under command of Eugene Sickles fired the salute.

At stiff parade rest under the hot sun at the rostrum, four of the men collapsed and were removed by non-commissioned officers while the remainder stayed rigidly in their positions. All recovered after being removed to shade.

For the first time in approximately 60 years, Dr. C. B. Stouffer, a son of a Civil War Veteran, did not participate in the strewing of flowers on the graves. A group of great-grandchildren of Civil War soldiers continued the ceremony under command of O. G. MacPherson. The great-grandchildren included Patrick, Robert and James Roth, Michael Codori, Barry Snyder and Becky Riley.

Crop Reporting Service Adds Man

Addition of Rex G. Butler to the staff of the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service was announced today by Dewey O. Boster, agricultural statistician in charge. He succeeds Alan R. Miller who on May 5 was assigned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to head the Crop Reporting Service in West Virginia.

Butler comes to Pennsylvania following five years in the agricultural estimates division of U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. He spent three years there in the price branch and two years in the livestock branch of the department.

The new crop reporting statistician was born in Galadonia and received his education in Kansas where he was a resident of Yates Center. He was graduated from Baker University at Baldwin, Kans., in 1947, majoring in mathematics and statistics. He received his master's degree in agricultural economics from Kansas State University at Manhattan in 1950. Before going to Washington he spent a year with the Kansas State Highway Commission and two years with the Kansas State Board of Agriculture as a statistician. Currently, Butler is compiling the annual Pennsylvania crop acreage report and conducting a June livestock survey.

"GOD WILL HELP"

With God's help we can go forward . . . in the quest of daily bread . . . able to proceed with care . . . and slowly forge ahead . . . just as long as God is with us . . . seldom have we cause to fear . . . because our hearts are filled with faith . . . to keep our vision clear . . . it's comforting with such a Friend . . . forever by our side . . . through contrite prayer we beg Him for . . . the strength to stem the tide . . . although we cannot see Him . . . deep down inside we know . . . that somehow God is close to us . . . as on through life we go . . . His love is free to everyone . . . who seeks a helping hand . . . confide in Him when you're perplexed . . . He'll help you understand.

In 1946 he was placed on reserve status and then was named as first executive officer of Co. E, 313th, the first Army Reserve unit here. He then served for some time as commanding officer of Company A, when the designation of the local unit was changed. He was named a captain in 1952 and transferred to divisional duties with the 79th Division two years ago. Major Hafer currently serves as public information officer for the 79th Division.

YOUNG MOTHER DENIES HOLDUPS IN TWO OFFICES

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — A 28-year-old housewife is free on $10,000 bond after pleading innocent to charges of robbing two savings and loan association offices at gunpoint.

Mrs. Charles Anderson Jr. remained calm at her arraignment Thursday, maintaining the stoic composure she had displayed most of the time since her arrest by the FBI. When she was freed, however, she fainted in her husband's arms.

Mrs. Anderson, described as a model wife and mother, was arrested at her home Thursday. Employees of the City Federal Savings & Loan Assn. and Jefferson Federal Savings & Loan Assn. identified her as the tall attractive blonde who robbed their branches of $2,900.

"I Lead Christian Life"
"I have always led a Christian life, and I am trying to raise my family in a proper manner," Mrs. Anderson told newsmen. "I know that my family and friends will stand by my side in this ordeal."

Mrs. Anderson is the mother of an 8-year-old son and a 15-month-old daughter and is expecting another child.

"The greatest tragedy is the effect this will have on our children, and I am sure that any parent will understand," Mrs. Anderson said.

No Debts
Anderson, manager for an insurance company, said he and his wife had no debts except a small department store bill and a monthly house note.

"My wife can't bear to see children hurt," he said. "I can't imagine her robbing a bank at gunpoint."

The two offices Mrs. Anderson is accused of robbing are both across the street from police headquarters in suburban Homewood.

The maximum penalty for violation of the federal bank robbery statute under which Mrs. Anderson is charged is a fine of $10,000 and 25 years in prison.

State's Needy Cost Less Than Average

HARRISBURG (AP)—It cost an average of $10.32 per man, woman and child to support the needy in Pennsylvania last year.

The Public Assistance Department's annual report Friday showed total expenditures for old age assistance, blind pensions, aid to dependent children and the disabled and general assistance amounted to $131,414,291 for the year, an increase of 6 per cent over 1956.

Of this amount, the federal government paid $60,105,595, or about 46 per cent. The state paid the remainder.

The report said the per capita cost in the Keystone State was lower than seven of the other 10 northeastern states and below the 10-state average of $14.42. It also was under the U. S. per capita of $17.43.

PARIS (AP) — Annual maneuvers of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe will be held next Tuesday through Thursday over an area ranging from Norway to Turkey.

Mrs. Storm is survived also by three stepsons, Henry F. Storm, Littlestown R. 2; Paul E. Storm and R. Gregory Storm, both of Hanover; 12 step-grandchildren and three step-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mrs. Storm will be held Monday at 8:30 a.m. with prayers at Bucher Funeral Home, Hanover, followed by a Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church. Rev. Fr. Park will be celebrant and interment will be in the parish cemetery.

President

A few hours earlier, the day-long ceremonies reached their climax when President Eisenhower conferred Medals of Honor on the dead.

Gave Their Lives
Eisenhower made the awards in a few simple but meaningful words:

"On behalf of a grateful people I now present Medals of Honor to these two Unknowns who gave their lives for the United States of America."

He turned to face the two caskets. First on one, then on the other, he placed pillows bearing the medals with star-flecked ribbons of blue.

Seated before the dais, among the almost 4,000 in the amphitheater, were 216 men who themselves had won the coveted medal.

Among the invited guests, too, were the mothers of men who had died in the three wars. Among them were mothers whose sons—like these men—lost their lives and their identities.

Accept Denial Of Air Force

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—United Air Lines has accepted the Air Force's denial that a B47 pilot "deliberately buzzed" a U47 pilot liner with 62 persons aboard.

Maj. Eugene Mathis said he actually was maneuvering his big jet bomber to avoid a possible collision with the DC7 near Salina, Kan. Thursday. He is based at Schilling AFB near Salina.

In Washington, undersecretary of the Air Force Malcolm A. McIntyre exclaimed "unfounded . . . an irresponsible statement" of the UAL complaint to the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The complaint was withdrawn last night.

UAL pilot M. K. Wolfe had charged on arrival here that a B47 crossed only 500 to 1,000 feet in front of his airliner. He called it "a deliberate buzz."

Sen. William F. Knowland, California Republican, one of 57 passengers, had asked the Air Force and CAA to investigate.

Special Music

Miss Lois Joy Reaser, Gettysburg, the junior bridesmaid, will wear a floor-length gown of white nylon organdy over blue taffeta. Its fitted bodice has a draped neckline and cap sleeves and the bouffant skirt has a bustle bow. She will carry a bouquet and wear a crown of yellow daisies.

James Rohrbaugh, a brother of the bridegroom, York New Salem, a brother of the bridegroom, will be best man. Ushers will be Raymond Shubert, York New Salem, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Jacques Rohrbaugh, York New Salem, a brother of the bridegroom; Lynn Harbold, York New Salem, and Richard Schrum, Spring Grove.

Music for the service will be provided by Mrs. Jacob Heikkinen, Gettysburg, organist, who will play "Arioso," Handel; "Larghetto from Sonata No. A," Guilmant, and "Dreams," McAmis. The wedding march will be from "Lohengrin" and the recessional "Trumpet Voluntary," by Purcell. During the ceremony the congregation will sing "For the Beauty of the Earth" and "O Perfect Love." A vocal quartet comprising the bride's foster father and brothers, Rev. Dr. Reaser and Clayton, Joel and Philip Reaser, will sing "Love Divine, All Lobe Excelling" and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Reception To Follow

For the ceremony, the bride's foster mother, Mrs. Reaser, will wear a powder blue lace dress and powder blue hat with white accessories and a white rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother will wear a blue and lavender flower print on white background chiffon dress with white accessories and white rose corsage.

A reception will be held following the ceremonies at St. James Lutheran Church Social room after which the couple will leave on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. For her going away costume the bride will wear a brown and turquoise silk print dress with white accessories. The couple will reside in York New Salem upon their return from the wedding trip.

Bride To Graduate

During the reception instrumental music will be provided by the following: Clyde Mummert, violin; David Gundrum, cello, and Miss Nancy Kessler, violin.

She is a member of the college's cappella choir, Delta Gamma Sorority, Gettysburg Honor Society, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and the Student Christian Association.

The bridegroom is a graduate of West York High School and Gettysburg College and has just completed his middle year at Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, D. C.

Out-of-town guests will be present from Kitchener, Ontario, Canada; New York City and Washington, D. C.

ESTIMATE CROWD

Boy and Girl Scouts, and the varicolored garb of the other groups present presented a stirring sight.

4 Men Collapse

Members of the Honor Guard of the 79th Division, wearing aluminum colored helmet liners; members of Co. A, 313th Infantry, the local Army Reserve unit and part of the 79th Division, and the local Howitzer Company of the National Guard stood at attention and then at parade rest before the rostrum for the concluding exercises in the cemetery. Prior to that the groups had taken part in the parade and members served as military police on Lincoln Square, along the parade route and in the cemetery throughout the ritual and flower strewing exercises and while the Honor Guard of the Albert J. Lentz Post of the American Legion under command of Eugene Sickles fired the salute.

At stiff parade rest under the hot sun at the rostrum, four of the men collapsed and were removed by non-commissioned officers while the remainder stayed rigidly in their positions. All recovered after being removed to shade.

For the first time in approximately 60 years, Dr. C. B. Stouffer, a son of a Civil War Veteran, did not participate in the strewing of flowers on the graves. A group of great-grandchildren of Civil War soldiers continued the ceremony under command of O. G. MacPherson. The great-great-grandchildren included Patrick, Robert and James Roth, Michael Codori, Barry Snyder and Becky Riley.

Crop Reporting Service Adds Man

Addition of Rex G. Butler to the staff of the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service was announced today by Dewey O. Boster, agricultural statistician in charge. He succeeds Alan R. Miller who on May 5 was assigned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to head the Crop Reporting Service in West Virginia.

Butler comes to Pennsylvania following five years in the agricultural estimates division of U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. He spent three years there in the price branch and two years in the livestock branch of the department.

The new crop reporting statistician was born in Oklahoma and received his education in Kansas where he was a resident of Yates Center. He was graduated from Baker University at Baldwin, Kans., in 1947, majoring in mathematics and statistics. He received his master's degree in agricultural economics from mKansas State University at Manhattan in 1950. Before going to Washington he spent a year with the Kansas State Highway Commission and two years with the Kansas State Board of Agriculture as a statistician. Currently, Butler is compiling the annual Pennsylvania crop acreage report and conducting a June livestock survey.

Today's Talk

LEARN TO BE PATIENT

Impatience has lost many a ripe opportunity. There is a saying that "all things come to him who waits." I like what a bright mind did to make this quotation far more effective by adding "who hustles while he waits!" In most instances, however, it has been wise to wait and choose the most apt opportunity to make a decision.

Patience is a wonderful thing to have. It often takes character to wait out an idea, but it pays in most instances. We often read of those who have waited and grown wise, and others who allowed opportunity to walk right past them without even giving it a nod!

Impatient people are forever whipping their nerves and failing to realize how important it is to bide one's time, entering every contest in life fresh and ready, leaving no regrets behind. It isn't easy to stand on the side lines and wait, but patience always has its reward.

Recognition for one's worth often comes too late in life to give the needed encouragement, but one should be content if he has done his best, and left rich ideas for others to take up and earnestly sponsor. Patience has to be learned, the same as many another virtue has to be applied in so many cases. Too many unprepared students have school too soon. Thoroughness is always associated with success. Be patient. People who are in too much of a hurry usually arrive too late! Many a book has taken its author a dozen, or more, years to complete.

LESSON OF THE VIOLET
The violet deep in the wood
Blooms all alone, and doesn't ask
Ere it will do its share of good
That in the spotlight it may bask.

Because it knows not how or when
Some one its resting place will find.

It does not hide its bloom till then,
But blossoms there and is resigned.

And though it blossoms, alone,
Unseen,

'Tis none the less a violet fair—
A violet that any queen
Might glory in the chance to wear.

But men, so oft, ere they will do
Their best, demand the world's applause;

They want to work in public view
Instead of toiling for the cause.

Families In Black's Graveyard

By B. F. M. MacPherson

A careful study of the genealogical backgrounds of many families buried in Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Cemetery establishes the fact that many were related, either by blood or marriage. The Scotch, or Scotch-Irish as they are more commonly known, in the majority of cases married within their own nationality. To add to the general confusion the same given names were used, generation after generation, and the result is genealogical chaos.

A somewhat unusual example of this type of mixup is found in the Russell-Hamilton family. After the death of Joshua Russell, innkeeper, in 1806, his wife, Jane (Harris) Russell, married Enoch Hamilton, who was undoubtedly the son of Colonel Hance and Ann Hamilton. However, William and Magdalena (Bittinger) Hamilton also had a son named Enoch, but he was some thirty-six years younger than the widow Russell which seems to make him ineligible as her second husband.

Jane Russell Hamilton died January 5, 1807, and is buried beside her first husband in Black's graveyard. The inscription on the marker at her grave states that she was the wife of Joshua Russell and no mention is made of her second marriage. In her will, which was written January 5, 1807 (the day of her death), and entered to probate January 28, 1807, she signs herself "Jane Russell, relict of Joshua Russell." Her heirs are listed as follows:

1. Granddaughter — Jenny Russell.
2. Granddaughter — Mary Russell.
3. Granddaughter — Rachel Russell.
4. Granddaughter — Margaret Eliza Russell.

Possible Enoch Hamilton died soon after his marriage and his widow remained, among her friends and neighbors, the "relict of Joshua Russell." No other explanation seems plausible. Came From Ireland
John Hamilton, born 1713 — died 1798, came from the North of Ireland and settled in York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. About 1782-83 he removed to Washington County, in the same state, to which place some of his children had preceded him. Here he died August 2, 1798. Florence, the wife of John Hamilton, the emigrant, was born 1727 and died September 28, 1800. They were the parents of the following children:

1. Jane Hamilton — born June 8, 1742.
2. James Hamilton — born December 29, 1743.
3. Janet Hamilton — born December 28, 1745.
4. William Hamilton — born March 20, 1751 — married Magdalena Bittinger — died September 21, 1823.
5. John Hamilton — born November 25, 1754 — married Mary Patterson.
6. Robert Hamilton — born June 27, 1763.

William, the second son of John and Florence Hamilton, remained in York (now Adams) County when other members of his family moved to Washington County. He served as an officer during the American Revolution. After the war he returned to his farm in Cumberland Township where he died some forty years later. Captain Hamilton was married on September 14, 1775, to Magdalena, the daughter of Captain Nicholas and Maria Christina (Reinhold) Bittinger. Their children are listed in the family Bible as follows:

1. Margaret Hamilton — born September 1, 1776 — married David Hamilton (a distant relative) — died 1872 in Washington County, Pennsylvania.
2. John Hamilton — born September 3, 1778.
3. Florence and Jane Hamilton (twins) — born May 25, 1780.
4. William Hamilton — born April 1, 1782 — married Elizabeth Laferty.
5. Joseph Hamilton — born September 1, 1782 — married January 7, 1813, to Margaret, daughter of William Ferguson, — died November 9, 1849.
6. Enoch Hamilton — born July 1, 1786.
7. James Hamilton — born June 23, 1788.
8. Robert Hamilton — born January 25, 1791.
9. George Hamilton — born August 9, 1792 — married March 7, 1817, to Harriet, the daughter of James Dowley, Hunterstown, Adams County, Pennsylvania. He, George Hamilton, died in 1862 in Mercer County, Pennsylvania.

Let's Look At The Record

YEAR-END FINALS

Exams Wreck Happiness For Everybody; But Here Is How To Grade Professor

FINAL EXAMINATIONS leave college students wrung dry. The only people who hate them more than do the students are the professors.

Except for those who were mentally bone dry before exam time, and students say there are such, the pros also know what it is to be dried out.

It is actually harder on them than on the students, but it is not seriously expected students will be sending flowers of sympathy to many overworked pros.

A FINAL for students seldom takes more than three hours of their time. It is not unusual for a good professor to spend six to eight hours preparing one comprehensive test. When finished there could be less than twenty questions on one page.

Moreover, these hours precede the longer, more tedious paper grading chore.

This usually brings forth the query: "Are you talking about objective tests or essay tests?"

THIS IS AS good place as any to proclaim boldly that both of these two so-called types of exams are mis-named. There are indeed questions that invite an essay in response, but those who write genuine essays usually miss the point and wreck a grade.

Top students on this type of test run through the full list hurriedly. This pre-survey of all the points at issue often makes it easier to isolate the meaning of a question that when viewed alone seems vague.

Before writing a response to an "essay" question, it should be read slowly about three times. The answer should be then packed into one good sentence; long if absolutely necessary, short if possible. Tabulating within the sentence is a good technique when multiple factors are significant.

If a question specifically calls for a discussion of four hundred words, the sharp student saves it until the last. He sketches a brief outline on the side. With it as a guide, he kills the topic with bold, short sentences; be they fact or opinion. He neither falls below half nor exceeds three-fourths of the length suggested by the assignment. Going all the way never pulls a top grade. The prof just thinks he wants four hundred words.

OBJECTIVE TESTS, so-called, are just subjective as any other question and answer technique. All propositions rest upon the professor's non-objective assumption as to what his students should be able to recall.

The slots in the true-false, multiple response, matching tests facilitate rapid, objective grading of papers, usually by assistants. That is all one can say for them.

They deprive the student of more intellectual training for quick self expression under pressure than the assurance the grading pencil will fall upon all alike is worth to him or to anyone else.

HARASSED professors in crowded colleges and universities often admit this. They take recourse to such exams because the technique provides a scoring method that can be fearlessly farmed out.

Writing such tests so that students will be driven to a bit of thinking before dabbling a plus or minus into the appropriate slot is a severe test upon the professor. Too often, through lack of skill in his own self expression or because he wants to slip in a "think factor," about all he achieves is a "curved ball" which the best of students justly resent.

DR. CECIL D. SOLIN, of Canada's famed McGill University, gives exceptionally good advice as to the nature of all good comprehensive final exams.

"At least 65 per cent . . . should be broad and better questions," he says. "These deal with fundamentals of the course to find out if the students have mastered basic principles."

These should be followed by one or more that are sufficiently thought laden and involved that the B students are quickly separated from those who perhaps rate a C for top performance with the easier, factual group.

Finally there should be one or more questions, or assignments, calculated to sink a lucky B, and to establish the small per cent who are really entitled to an A rating. Dr. Solin insists that some exercise of "ingenuity and skillful analysis" is essential "to separate the first class students from the

AUTO CONTRACT DEADLOCK HITS UAW UNION HARD

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union sought to break deadlocked negotiations with Ford and Chrysler today while completing plans for some 300,000 General Motors employees to work without a contract.

UAW members at three GM plants worked without a contract Friday. Others will do the same in all 126 company plants Monday.

Both management and union termed the Ford and Chrysler negotiations deadlocked and each accused the other of refusing to budge.

Contracts at Ford and Chrysler expire Sunday midnight. The contract at GM expired Thursday midnight.

The industry's big three have offered to extend the old contracts two years. The UAW refused this. The extension would have included others.

And there you have both sides of the dreary business, not to mention standards whereby the student can grade the teacher while the teacher is grading him.

Sievers Belts Yankees For Three Homers, Seven Runs To Win 2 Tilts For Senators

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roe Sievers finally is back in business, bustin' the ball out of sight as the foremost homer hammering Senator in Washington history.

Sievers, apparently junking the aches and pains that have slowed his American League home run and runs-batted-in title defenses, practically hoisted the Senators out of the cellar all by himself Friday. He belted New York for three homers good for seven runs in a 3-8 and 7-2 sweep that left the Yankees with only a 6½-game lead and their first four-game losing streak in two seasons.

Jim Lemon also cracked a pair of homers and Ken Aspromonte drove in five runs as Washington managed its first double-header sweep in 29 tries over three seasons, chilling the largest Yankee stadium crowd of the season.

39,742 See Games
The 39,742 who sat in on Sievers' show also provided the top attendance in the majors' Memorial Day bills which drew 229,607. The AL pulled in 117,790, the National League 111,817.

Kansas City retained second place in the AL, beating third-place Cleveland 7-6 after losing 7-1 in a morning game. The long suffering Chicago White Sox gained a share of third with a 6-5 and 4-2 sweep against the Detroit Tigers, who had won five straight. Baltimore and Boston swapped 2-0 victories, with Frank Sullivan blanking the Orioles on two hits and Arnie Portocarrero then shutting out the Red Sox on four hits while ending Baltimore's losing streak at eight games.

Cards Down Giants Twice
In the NL, St. Louis vaulted from seventh to fifth with a sweep over first-place San Francisco, 7-6 in 10 innings and 8-1. Second-place Milwaukee split at Pittsburgh, losing 12-6 after a 7-4 victory. Ninth inning rallies gave the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and 10-8 decisions over Los Angeles with Walt Moryn hitting three homers in the nightcap. Cincinnati walloped Philadelphia 10-1 in a single game.

Al Smith's leaping stab turned Frank Bolling's drive into a game ending doubleplay for the White Sox as Billy Pierce (3-4) won the nightcap with a six-hitter at Detroit. Sherm Lollar, who homered in the first inning, bagged the opener with a two-out single in the ninth for reliever Jeffery Haeley in his first victory. Billy Hoelt (3-5) lost it in relief.

Garver Wins Seventh
Harry Chitt, who also homered, singled home the afternoon game clincher in the sixth for the A's as Ned Garver won his seventh with relief in the ninth.

Ray Narleski's six-hitter beat the A's in the morning game.
Al Piharcik singled in the first and fourth for the only hits off Sullivan (2-1), who has won six in a row from the Orioles. Frank Malone's homer followed a walk to Ted Williams in the fourth and beat Connie Johnson (1-4).

The Orioles handed rookie Bob (Riverboat) Smith his first defeat in the nightcap.

ELLIOTT SEEKS NEW MILE MARK IN CALIFORNIA

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Herb Elliott, "fit, well, strong and happy," goes after an untarnished mile record tonight in the California Relays.

The 20-year-old Australian, who ran a paced mile in 3:57.8 two weeks ago, will be racing on a hard track for the first time in this 17th annual renewal of an field show.

"If we don't run fast, I'll give up and catch the first plane back to Australia," Elliott's coach, Percy Cerutti said jokingly today.

Actually, Elliott and Cerutti, no matter what the time, will go to Los Angeles to prepare for the June 6 Compton Relays.

No Case Letters
Meet Director Tom Moore said no pace setters will be allowed in the mile, an international event featuring Valisa Mugosa, a Yugoslav attending New York University; Hungarian refugee Lazo Tabori, and perhaps Dr. Stefan Lewandowski of Poland.

American opposition included Joe Villareal of Texas and Burr Grim, formerly of Maryland.

Elliott's 3:57.8 was two-tenths of a second lower than the recognized world standard set by his fellow countryman John Landy. However, international officials officials frown on pace setting.

MAY TRY COMEBACK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Angelo Dundee said Friday that Jake Lamotta, former middleweight champion whom Dundee manages, may start a comeback in June if he can get into shape.

Lamotta, 35, recently was released from jail where he served a five months sentence for violation of prostitution laws.

STANDINGS UNCHANGED

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—There was nary a stir in any category of the American Bowling Congress championships Friday.

Overall scoring in the 63rd day of the 72-day contest slumped to what was probably the lowest level of the tournament. The best performance of the day was the 2709 series compiled by Sterling Grand - View Dairy of Canton, Ohio, in the open team division.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Angelo Dundee said Friday that Jake Lamotta, former middleweight champion whom Dundee manages, may start a comeback in June if he can get into shape.

Lamotta, 35, recently was released from jail where he served a five months sentence for violation of prostitution laws.

CUB RALLIES IN NINTH INNINGS WIN TWO GAMES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those Chicago Cubs may be living better than they figured to at this stage of the National League race, but they had "Moryn" enough to get the job done in a Memorial Day sweep over Los Angeles that left them in fourth place.

It may be a bad pun, but it was a lotta fun for a capacity crowd of 37,799 at Chicago as Walt Moryn gave the Cubs a push in a pair of ninth-inning rallies that trimmed the Dodgers 3-2 and 10-6.

The Moose chilled his onetime mates with three home runs in the nightcap, belting a two-run shot that won it in the ninth. In the first game, he doubled home the tying run and scored the clincher as Sammy Taylor's pinch single capped a three-run ninth.

Cardinals Move Up

The St. Louis Cardinals jumped from seventh to fifth by taking two from San Francisco, 7-6 in 10 innings and 8-1, but the Giants retained a one-game lead as second place Milwaukee split at Pittsburgh. The Braves won the opener 7-4, then lost 12-6. Cincinnati walloped Philadelphia 10-1 in the lone single game on the holiday card, which drew 111,817 fans.

The American League drew 117,790 for four doubleheaders with Washington running New York's losing streak to four games as Roy Sievers hit three home runs and drove in seven for a 13-8 and 7-2 sweep. Kansas City, 6½ games behind in second place, split a morning-afternoon pair with Cleveland, winning 7-6 after a 7-1 defeat. The Chicago White Sox tied Cleveland for third with a 6-5 and 4-2 sweep at Detroit. Boston beat Baltimore 2-0 on Frank Sullivan's two-hit pitching, then lost 2-0 as Arnie Portocarrero's four-hitter ended the Orioles' losing string at eight games.

Wild Pitch Wins

A wild pitch by reliever Ray Crone gave the Cards the winning run in the opener. Then they left no doubt about it in the nightcap, handing young Mike McCormick his first defeat.

Jim Brosnan, late of the Cubs, won his second for the Cards in the second game for a 5-4 record. Billy Muffett won the opener in relief of Wilmer Mizell as the largest St. Louis crowd of the season, 30,461, sat in.

For runs in the ninth won the opener for the Braves with unbeaten Don McMahon winning his fourth in relief of Bob Rush.

Don Gross (2-0) was the winner in relief in the second game of the pair that drew 32,428 at Pittsburgh.

The Redlegs built a 9-0 lead in three innings to get a crowd of 11,129 started for the exits early in Philadelphia. Curt Simmons (4-5) was the victim while southpaw Harvey Haddix (3-3) won with a five-hitter, blanking the Phils on two hits for six.

PIRATES BOMB BRAVES AFTER LOSING FIRST

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Running up their highest hit total of the season, the Pittsburgh Pirates sank Milwaukee 12-6 under a barrage of extra-base wallops Friday in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

The Braves won the opener 7-4 on a four-run ninth-inning rally ignited by an error.

It was impossible to choose a single star for the Pirates in the second encounter as they bombed five Milwaukee pitchers for 18 hits.

Bill Mazeroski smacked two doubles and two singles, scoring three runs and batting average .300. Dick Groat had a double and three singles. R. C. Stevens and Danny Kravitz each accounted for two markers. Stevens had a double and a triple and Kravitz a single and a three-bagger.

The lusty swatting offset four Brave home runs. Del Crandall belted a pair and West Covington and Harry Hanebrink one each.

Muff's Pop Fly

In the first game an error by Frank Thomas opened the way for Milwaukee's victory. Thomas muffed Johnny Logan's pop fly in front of the plate in the ninth and Logan was safe at first. Billy Bruton got a bunt single. Crandall scored Logan with a safety.

Felix Mantilla brought home Bruton and Crandall with his fourth hit of the contest.

Don Gross, the last of three Pirate huffers, notched the second-game triumph and now has a 2-0 record. Curt Raydon started and was followed by Ron Blackburn. For the Braves the loser was Humberto Robinson, now 0-2. He came on after Lou Burdette and Ernie Johnson and was followed by Dick Littlefield and Don McMahon.

McMahon, who relieved starter Bob Rush, gained the opening win—his fourth without a loss. Roy

Captures 100-Lap Midget Auto Race

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa. (AP) — Fred (Jiggs) Peters, Bound Brook, N. J., pulled away from the pack at the midway Point and went on to win the 100-lap national championship midget auto race at the Half-Mile Speedway here Friday.

Runnerup was George Fonder, Lansdale, Pa. He was about a half a lap behind the winner. Len Duncan, of Philadelphia, leader through the second quarter of the race, finished third after his brakes failed.

Wayne Doerflinger, Lancaster, was fourth and Dick Linder, Pittsburgh, fifth.

The yellow caution flag was out four times because of cars spinning on the track. None of the drivers were injured.

The winning time was 47 minutes, 10.12 seconds.

Arendtsville and Jefferson, both unbeaten in South Penn Baseball League play, collide Sunday afternoon at Jefferson in a battle for first place. Both won their Memorial Day games to retain their perfect records.

The Arendtsville outfit clubbed out 11 hits to crush winless Harney 13-1 on the winners' field Friday.

Shultz limited Harney to three hits and fanned eight while siding his own cause with a homerun. Also homering for Arendtsville was Gochenour.

Jefferson pushed over five runs in the fifth to break a 3-3 deadlock to defeat Brushtown 9-7 at Jefferson.

Jim Harrold's double was the only solid blow of the big inning.

Errors played a big part in the free-scoring game won by Bononaueville 15-4 over invading Hunterstown.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ellisworth Webb stood off a steady, battering attack by Miami's Jimmy Becham Friday night to get back on the winning path in his campaign for a middleweight title fight.

Webb, former national Collegiate champion from Chicago won No. 6 in his division, was a 3-1 favorite over Becham, but he faced rugged going all the way before winning a split decision in the 10 - round battle in Miami Beach auditorium.

There were no clinches in the nationally televised fight.

Both judges voted for Spider. Gus Jacobson gave it to him 97-95 and Carl Gardner favored him 98-94. Referee Cy Cottrill saw it as 96-95 for Becham.

Webb, who weighed 160, scored his 27th victory against three defeats. Becham, 161, now has a career record of 23 wins, six losses and one draw.

Sievers Belts Yankees For Three Homers, Seven Runs To Win 2 Tilts For Senators

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roe Sievers finally is back in business, busting the ball out of sight as the foremost homer hammering Senator in Washington history.

Sievers, apparently junking the aches and pains that have slowed his American League home run and runs-batted-in title defenses, practically hoisted the Senators out of the cellar all by himself Friday. He belted New York with three homers good for seven runs in a 13-8 and 7-2 sweep that left the Yankees with only a 6½-game lead and their first four-game losing streak in two seasons.

Jim Lemon also cracked a pair of homers and Ken Aspromonte drove in five runs as Washington managed its first double-header sweep in 29 tries over three seasons, chilling the largest Yankee Stadium crowd of the season.

39,742 See Games

The 39,742 who sat in on Sievers' show also provided the top attendance in the majors' Memorial Day bills which drew 229,607. The AL pulled in 117,790, the National League 111,817.

Kansas City retained second place in the AL, beating third-place Cleveland 7-6 after losing 7-1 in a morning game. The long suffering Chicago White Sox gained a share of third with a 6-5 and 4-2 sweep against the Detroit Tigers, who had won five straight victories, with Frank Sullivan blanking the Orioles on two hits and Arnie Portocarrero then shutting out the Red Sox on four hits while ending Baltimore's losing streak at eight games.

Cards Down Giants Twice

In the NL, St. Louis vaulted from seventh to fifth with a sweep over first-place San Francisco, 7-6 in 10 innings and 8-1. Second-place Milwaukee split at Pittsburgh, losing 12-6 after a 7-4 victory. Ninth inning rallies gave the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and 10-8 decisions over Los Angeles with Walt Moryn hitting three homers in the nightcap. Cincinnati wall o' peds Philadelphia 10-1 in a single game.

Al Smith's leaping stab turned Frank Bolling's drive into a game ending doubleplay for the White Sox as Billy Pierce (3-4) won the nightcap with a six-hitter at Detroit. Sherm Lollar, who homered in the first inning, bagged the opener with a two-out single in the ninth for reliever Jerry Gandy's first victory. Billy Hoelt (3-5) lost it in relief.

Garver Wins Seventh

Harry Chitt, who also homered, singled home the afternoon game clincher in the sixth for the A's as Ned Garver won his seventh with relief in the ninth.

Ray Narleski's six-hitter beat the A's in the morning game. Al Pilarcik singled in the first and fourth for the only hits off Sullivan (2-1), who has won six in a row from the Orioles. Frank Malone's homer followed a walk to Ted Williams in the fourth and beat Connie Johnson (1-4).

The Orioles handed rookie Bob (Riverboat) Smith his first defeat in the nightcap.

ELLIOTT SEEKS NEW MILE MARK IN CALIFORNIA

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Herb Elliott, "fit, well, strong and happy," goes after an untarnished mile record tonight in the California Relays.

The 20-year-old Australian, who ran a paced mile in 3:57.8 two weeks ago, will be racing on a hard track for the first time in this 17th annual renewal of an field show.

"If we don't run fast, I'll give up and catch the first plane back to Australia," Elliott's coach, Percy Cerutti said jokingly today.

Actually, Elliott and Cerutti, no matter what the time, will go to Los Angeles to prepare for the June 6 Compton Relays.

No Case Letters

Meet Director Tom Moore said no pace setters will be allowed in the mile, an international event featuring Valisa Mugosa, a Yugoslav attending New York University; Hungarian refugee László Tabori, and perhaps Dr. Stefan Lewandowski of Poland.

American opposition included Joe Villareal of Texas and Burr Grim, formerly of Maryland.

Elliott's 3:57.8 was two-tenths of a second lower than the recognized world standard set by his fellow countryman John Landy. However, international officials officials frown on pace setting.

MAY TRY COMEBACK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Angelo Dundee said Friday that Jake Lamotta, former middleweight champion whom Dundee manages, may start a comeback in June if he can get into shape.

Lamotta, 35, recently was released from jail where he served a five months sentence for violation of prostitution laws.

CUB RALLIES IN NINTH INNINGS WIN TWO GAMES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those Chicago Cubs may be living better than they figured to at this stage of the National League race, but they had "Moryn" enough to get the job done in a Memorial Day sweep over Los Angeles that left them in fourth place.

It may be a bad pun, but it was a lotta fun for a capacity crowd of 37,799 at Chicago as Walt Moryn gave the Cubs a push in a pair of ninth-inning rallies that trimmed the Dodgers 3-2 and 10-8.

The Moose chilled his onetime mates with three home runs in the nightcap, belting a two-run shot that won it in the ninth. In the first game, he doubled home the tying run and scored the clincher as Sammy Taylor's pinch single capped a three-run ninth.

Cardinals Move Up

The St. Louis Cardinals jumped from seventh to fifth by taking two from San Francisco, 7-6 in 10 innings and 8-1, but the Giants retained a one-game lead as second place Milwaukee split at Pittsburgh. The Braves won the opener 7-4, then lost 12-6. Cincinnati wall o' peds Philadelphia 10-1 in the lone single game on the holiday card, which drew 111,817 fans.

The American League drew 117,790 for four doubleheaders with Washington running New York's losing streak to four games as Roy Sievers hit three home runs and drove in seven for a 13-8 and 7-2 sweep. Kansas City, 6½ games behind in second place, split a morning-afternoon pair with Cleveland, winning 7-6 after a 7-1 defeat. The Chicago White Sox tied Cleveland for third with a 6-5 and 4-2 sweep at Detroit. Boston beat Baltimore 2-0 on Frank Sullivan's two-hit pitching, lost 2-0 as Arnie Portocarrero's four-hitter ended the Orioles' losing string at eight games.

Wild Pitch Wins

A wild pitch by reliever Ray Crone gave the Cards the winning run in the opener. Then they left no doubt about it in the nightcap, handing young Mike McCormick his first defeat.

Jim Brosnan, late of the Cubs, won his second for the Cards in the second game for a 5-4 record. Billy Muffett won the opener in relief of Wilmer Mizell as the largest St. Louis crowd of the season, 30,461, sat in.

For runs in the ninth won the opener for the Braves with unbeaten Don McMahon winning his fourth in relief of Bob Rush.

Don Gross (2-0) was the winner in relief in the second game of the pair that drew 32,428 at Pittsburgh.

The Redlegs built a 9-0 lead in three innings to get a crowd of 11,129 started for the exits after in Philadelphia. Curt Simmons (4-5) was the victim while southpaw Harvey Haddix (3-3) won with a five-hitter, blanking the Phils on two hits for six.

Captures 100-Lap Midget Auto Race

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa. (AP) — Fred (Jiggs) Peters, Brook, N. J., pulled away from the pack at the midway Point and went on to win the 100-lap national championship midget auto race at the Half-Mile Speedway here Friday.

Runnerup was George Fonder, Lansdale, Pa. He was about a half a lap behind the winner. Len Duncan of Philadelphia, leader through the second quarter of the race, finished third after his brakes failed.

Wayne Doerflinger, Lancaster, was fourth and Dick Linder, Pittsburgh, fifth.

The yellow caution flag was out four times because of cars spinning on the track. None of the drivers were injured.

The winning time was 47 minutes, 10.12 seconds.

LEARN TO BE PATIENT
Impatience has lost many a ripe opportunity. There is a saying that "all things come to him who waits." I like what a bright mind did to make this quotation far more effective by adding "who hustles while he waits!" In most instances, however, it has been wise to wait and choose the most apt opportunity to make a decision.

Patience is a wonderful thing to have. It often takes character to wait out an idea, but it pays in most instances. We often read of those who have waited and grown wise, and others who allowed opportunity to walk right past them without even giving it a nod!

Impatient people are forever whipping their nerves and failing to realize how important it is to bide one's time, entering every contest in life fresh and ready, leaving no regrets behind. It isn't easy to stand on the side lines and wait, but patience always has its reward.

Recognition for one's worth often comes too late in life to give the needed encouragement, but one should be content if he has done his best, and left rich ideas for others to take up and earnestly sponsor. Patience has to be learned, the same as many another virtue has to get nourishment. Patience needs to be applied in so many cases. Too many unprepared students have school too soon. Thoroughness is always associated with success. Be patient. People who are in too much of a hurry usually arrive too late! Many a book has taken its author a dozen, or more, years to complete.

LESSON OF THE VIOLET
The violet deep in the wood
Blooms all alone, and doesn't ask
Ere it will do its share of good
That in the spotlight it may bask.

Because it knows not how or when
Some one its resting place will find,
It does not hide its bloom, till then,
But blossoms there and is resigned.

And though it blossoms, alone,
Unseen,
'Tis none the less a violet fair—
A violet that any queen
Might glory in the chance to wear.

But men, so oft, ere they will do
Their best, demand the world's applause;
They want to work in public view
Instead of toiling for the cause.

Families In Black's Graveyard

By B. F. M. MacPherson

A careful study of the genealogical background of many families buried in Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Cemetery establishes the fact that many were related, either by blood or marriage. The Scotch, or Scotch-Irish as they are more commonly known, in the majority of cases married within their own nationality. To add to the general confusion the same given names were used, generation after generation, and the result is genealogical chaos.

A somewhat unusual example of this type of mixup is found in the Russell-Hamilton family.

After the death of Joshua Russell, innkeeper, in 1906, his wife, Jane (Harris) Russell, married Enoch Hamilton, who was undoubtedly the son of Colonel Hance and Ann Hamilton. However, William and Magdalena (Bittinger) Hamilton also had a son named Enoch, but he was some thirty-six years younger than the widow Russell which seems to make him ineligible as her second husband.

Jane Russell Hamilton died January 5, 1907, and is buried beside her first husband in Black's graveyard. The inscription on the marker at her grave states that she was the wife of Joshua Russell and no mention is made of her second marriage. In her will, which was written January 5, 1907 (the day of her death), and entered to probate January 28, 1907, she signs herself "Jean Russell, relict of Joshua Russell." Her heirs are listed as follows:

1. Granddaughter — Jenny Russell.
2. Granddaughter — Mary Russell.
3. Granddaughter — Rachel Russell.
4. Granddaughter — Margaret Eliza Russell.

Possible Enoch Hamilton died soon after his marriage and his widow remained, among her friends and neighbors, the "relict of Joshua Russell." No other explanation seems plausible.

Came From Ireland
John Hamilton, born 1713 — died 1768, came from the North of Ireland and settled in York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. About 1762-63 he removed to Washington County, in the same state, to which place some of his children had preceded him. Here he died August 2, 1768. Florence, the wife of John Hamilton, the emigrant, was born 1727 and died September 28, 1800. They were the parents of the following children:

1. Jane Hamilton — born June 8, 1742.
2. James Hamilton — born December 29, 1743.
3. Janet Hamilton — born December 28, 1745.
4. William Hamilton — born March 20, 1751 — married Magdalena Bittinger — died September 21, 1823.
5. John Hamilton — born November 25, 1754 — married Mary Patterson.
6. Robert Hamilton — born June 27, 1763.

William, the second son of John and Florence Hamilton, remained in York (now Adams) County when other members of his family moved to Washington County. He served as an officer during the American Revolution. After the war he returned to his farm in Cumberland Township where he died some forty years later. Captain Hamilton was married on September 14, 1775, to Magdalena, the daughter of Captain Nicholas and Maria Christina (Reinholdt) Bittinger. Their children are listed in the family Bible as follows:

1. Margaret Hamilton — born September 1, 1776 — married David Hamilton (a distant relative) — died 1872 in Washington County, Pennsylvania.
2. John Hamilton — born September 3, 1778.
3. Florence and Jane Hamilton (twins) — born May 25, 1780.
4. William Hamilton — born April 1, 1782 — married Elizabeth Lafterly.
5. Joseph Hamilton — born September 1, 1782 — married January 7, 1813, to Margaret, daughter of William Ferguson, — died November 9, 1849.
6. Enoch Hamilton — born July 1, 1786.
7. James Hamilton — born June 23, 1788.
8. Robert Hamilton — born January 25, 1791.
9. George Hamilton — born August 9, 1792 — married March 7, 1817, to Harriet, the daughter of James Powley, Hunterstown, Adams County, Pennsylvania. He, George Hamilton, died in 1862 in Mercer County, Pennsylvania.

Let's Look At The Record

YEAR-END FINALS
Exams Wreck Happiness For Everybody: But Here Is How To Grade Professor
FINAL EXAMINATIONS leave college students wrung dry. The only people who hate them more than do the students are the professors.

Except for those who were mentally bone dry before exam time, and students say there are such, the pros also know what it is to be dried out.

It is actually harder on them than on the students, but it is not seriously expected students will be sending flowers of sympathy to many overworked pros.

A FINAL for students seldom takes more than three hours of their time. It is not unusual for a good professor to spend six to eight hours preparing one comprehensive test. When finished there could be less than twenty questions on one page.

Moreover, these hours precede the longer, more tedious paper grading chore.

This usually brings forth the query: "Are you talking about objective tests or essay tests?"

THIS IS AS GOOD place as any to proclaim boldly that both of these two so-called types of exams are mis-named. There are indeed questions that invite an essay in response, but those who write genuine essays usually miss the point and wreck a grade.

Top students on this type of test run through the full list hurriedly. This pre-survey of all the points at issue often makes it easier to isolate the meaning of a question that when viewed alone seems vague.

Before writing a response to an "essay" question, it should be read slowly about three times. The answer should be then packed into one good sentence; long if absolutely necessary, short if possible. Tabulating within the sentence is a good technique when multiple factors are significant.

If a question specifically calls for a discussion of four hundred words, the sharp student saves it until the last. He sketches a brief outline on the side. With it as a guide, he kills the topic with bold, short sentences: be they fact or opinion. He neither falls below half nor exceeds three-fourths of the length suggested by the assignment. Going all the way never pulls a top grade. The prof just thinks he wants four hundred words.

OBJECTIVE TESTS, so-called, are just subjective as any other question and answer technique. All propositions rest upon the professor's non-objective assumption as to what his students should be able to recall.

The slots in the true-false, multiple response, matching tests facilitate rapid, objective grading of papers, usually by assistants. That is all one can say for them.

They deprive the student of more intellectual training for quick self-expression under pressure than the assurance the grading pencil will fall upon all alike is worth to him or to anyone else.

HARASSED professors in crowded colleges and universities often admit this. They take recourse to such exams because the technique provides a scoring method that can be fearlessly farmed out.

Writing such tests so that students will be driven to a bit of thinking before dabbling a plus or minus into the appropriate slot is a severe test upon the professor. Too often, through lack of skill in his own self expression or because he wants to slip in a "think factor," about all he achieves is a "curved ball" which the best of students justly resent.

DR. CECIL D. SOLIN, of Canada's famed McGill University, gives exceptionally good advice as to the nature of all good comprehensive final exams.

"At least 65 per cent . . . should be broad and butler questions" he says. "These deal with fundamentals of the course to find out if the students have mastered basic principles."

These should be followed by one or more that are sufficiently thought laden and involved that the B students are quickly separated from those who perhaps rate a C for top performance with the easier, factual group.

Finally there should be one or more questions, or assignments, calculated to sink a lucky B, and to establish the small per cent who are really entitled to an A rating.

Dr. Solin insists that some exercise of "ingenuity and skillful analysis" is essential "to separate the first class students from the

AUTO CONTRACT DEADLOCK HITS UAW UNION HARD

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union sought to break deadlocked negotiations with Ford and Chrysler today while completing plans for some 300,000 General Motors employees to work without a contract.

UAW members at three GM plants worked without a contract Friday. Others will do the same in all 126 company plants Monday.

Both management and union claimed the Ford and Chrysler negotiations deadlocked and each accused the other of refusing to budge.

Contracts at Ford and Chrysler expire Sunday midnight. The contract at GM expired Thursday midnight.

The industry's big three have offered to extend the old contracts two years. The UAW refused this. The extension would have included others.

And there you have both sides of the dreary business, not to mention standards whereby the student can grade the teacher while the teacher is grading him.

Coat Of Paint Or Varnish Will Prevent Beetles From Laying Eggs, Says Zettle

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Proper control measures will help check a wide variety of very small, dark-brown beetles that attack seasoned wood.

A coat of paint or varnish will prevent the beetles from laying eggs, but will not destroy the eggs and grubs that may be in the wood before the application is made. A spray containing 5 per cent DDT, applied to infested timbers before June 1, will give fair control. A 5 per cent pentachlorophenol solution, painted or sprayed on infested wood, is also effective. The odor from pentachlorophenol may be objectionable for several weeks after it is used.

Some of the beetles attack only the sapwood of hardwoods, while others work in pine and fir timbers. The majority of the beetles deposit their eggs in the pores of dry wood during June. The small, white larvae or grubs eat the wood and pack burrows with fine powder-like sawdust. The fine powder often sifts from infested timbers.

Look For Holes

If the infestation has continued for several years, the surface may have numerous round holes about the size of pin heads. Holes are made by the adult beetles, which usually emerge from infested timbers in early June. Shepherds in the east have found that western ewes are an excellent and economical source of replacement ewes. Generally ewes from the northwest have proven the most satisfactory with the northwest areas including Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and surrounding states.

The western ewe replacement program was started in Kentucky approximately 30 years ago, and since that time has spread to many other states.

There are two general types of ewes that are used in this program. One is the basic northwest white faced ewe. This is primarily a Lincoln-Rambouillet crossbred ewe. The other is a three-way cross, an ewe that is produced by breeding the white faced western to a black faced ram, either Hampshire or Suffolk.

Either of these types will develop into large ewes weighing 150 pounds or more, many of them passing 175 pounds in weight. They should shear 8 to 12 pounds of $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ blood wool, and should produce at least 7 lamb crops during their productive life.

Experimental results, as well as farmer experience, has proven that the northwestern ewe, in addition to developing good size, have other characteristics that equal or excel native ewes as follows:

Shear 2 to 4 pounds more wool; have more vigor and vitality; more longevity — good for about 2 more lamb crops; with good feed and management will drop an average of 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ lambs per ewe; are comparatively free of internal parasites when purchased; are excellent mothers, and lambs out of northwestern ewes, when bred to meaty mutton type rams, will produce more pounds of lamb per ewe. Lambs will grade just as high as lambs from native ewes.

Kill Bagworms In June

Bagworms feed on a wide variety of trees and shrubs, both evergreens and deciduous. Plants commonly attacked are arborvitae, spruce, maple, and sycamore. Bagworms go through the winter as eggs within the old bags that hang on the trees. Eggs hatch in early June, and the young worms feed on the foliage and soon construct a silken bag about them.

It is essential to control the bagworms while they are still small because the poisons are rather ineffective upon the larger worms.

For control use 3 tablespoons of lead arsenate, plus $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of flour, or 4 tablespoons of 25 per cent malathion wettable powder, or 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons of 50 per cent malathion emulsion to 1 gallon of water. Spray infested shrubs thoroughly about June 10 to 20.

Terraces and patios need planters to add that touch of green. The handy husband can make them in a few hours at little expense.

Here's one, designed for construction in the home workshop, composed of three tapered boxes, each nesting inside the other.

And if you want to make life easier for the little woman, affix the planter to rubber-wheeled casters to make it mobile; no more tugging and shoving, then, to move a flower box, heavy with earth, from one location to another.

A happy choice of lumber would be western red cedar beveled siding. This wood is inexpensive, has a natural resistance to rot, and has a long life, whether painted or unfinished.

Here's the step by step procedure:

Buy four eight-foot lengths of the beveled siding. It comes in 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch widths. Beveled siding is $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick on the top edge and tapers to a thickness of $\frac{1}{4}$ inch at the bottom. Also buy one piece of exterior grade fir plywood about 24 by 24 inches. Most lumber yards will cut it to size.

Slight Miter Needed

Now rough cut 12 pieces from the western red cedar beveled siding. Each piece 22 inches in length. Each piece then must be cut with a slight miter at each end for a taper so the boxes will nest.

There are two ways to do it: (1) if you have a miter jig, cut one end at an angle of eight degrees, the other end at an angle of five degrees. Or (2) mark a point on the bottom edge 1 $\frac{3}{16}$ inches in from one end and another point 15 $\frac{1}{16}$ of an inch in from the other end.

Cutting at an angle across these points from the top end edges will give you the eight and five-degree cuts.

As you assemble the four sections of each of the three boxes, lap the eight-degree end over the five-degree end in a "continuous lap" method. The result will be a uniform taper.

Put the sections together first with a single nail at each corner. Then join them permanently with two-inch No. 7 brass flathead or oval head screws and brass "finishing" washers.

Cedar is strong cedar but tends to split, so take pains to drill through the overlapping ends with a bit only slightly smaller than the shank of the screw. Use two screws for each bottom corner of each box; one screw about an inch down from the top edge will do the job for the upper corners.

Bottom Edge Is Thinner

Be careful, too, in driving the lower screws because the siding is thinner on the bottom edge. Now cut the plywood in a square piece so it will extend out about a quarter inch on all sides of the bottom of the lower box.

Rip a two-inch strip off the thick edge of the remaining length of siding and use this to form facing for the edge of the platform. Place this facing also in the "continuous lap" method, using either nails or screws, and let it rise about half an inch above the platform.

The lower part of the facing will hand below the platform, producing a skirt to conceal the casters. The casters must be of the plate variety, which mount with screws.

The wheels, not smaller than 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches, should be rubber. Composition or cast iron wheels will not roll smoothly over terraces, patios, driveways or walks as the planter is moved around.

Nest the three boxes inside each other — and joyfully call the little woman to come and inspect your masterpiece.

If your tired of the door hardware and light switches in your home, they can be transformed into ancient-mellow antique finishes.

It's a simple job, requiring only a screw driver, a couple of ordinary nails and hammer, an easy-to-apply tube of plastic aluminum — and some flat black paint.

OFFER BILLION IN NEW BONDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury is offering to sell a billion dollars in long-term bonds while refinancing other indebtedness.

Plans to accept subscriptions for the long-term issue June 3 were announced Thursday.

At the same time, the Treasury said it was offering two shorter term securities in exchange for 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ billion dollars in notes and bonds maturing June 15. Holders of these expiring securities have the option of accepting the new securities or receiving cash.

Officials said they were borrowing new cash now in hopes of delaying future cash borrowing until after July, the first month of the new fiscal year.

The new bond, to be dated June 3, will run for 26 years and 11 months and will mature May 15, 1985. Although it will carry a 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent interest rate, the effective yield will be cut to 3.22 per cent by selling each \$100 of the bonds for \$100.50.

Coat Of Paint Or Varnish Will Prevent Beetles From Laying Eggs, Says Zettle

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Proper control measures will help check a wide variety of very small, dark-brown beetles that attack seasoned wood.

A coat of paint or varnish will prevent the beetles from laying eggs, but will not destroy the eggs and grubs that may be in the wood before the application is made. A spray containing 5 per cent DDT, applied to infested timbers before June 1, will give fair control. A 5 per cent pentachlorophenol solution, painted or sprayed on infested wood, is also effective. The odor from pentachlorophenol may be objectionable for several weeks after it is used.

Some of the beetles attach only the sapwood of hardwoods, while others work in pine and fir timbers. The majority of the beetles deposit their eggs in the pores of dry wood during June. The small, white larvae or grubs eat the wood and pack burrows with fine powder-like sawdust. The fine powder, often sifts from infested timbers.

Look For Holes

If the infestation has continued for several years, the surface may have numerous round holes about the size of pin heads. Holes are made by the adult beetles, which usually emerge from infested timbers in early June.

Sheepmen in the east have found that western ewes are an excellent and economical source of replacement ewes. Generally ewes from the northwest have proven the most satisfactory with the northwest areas including Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and surrounding states.

The western ewe replacement program was started in Kentucky approximately 30 years ago, and since that time has spread to many other states.

There are two general types of ewes that are used in this program. One is the basic northwest white faced ewe. This is primarily a Lincoln-Rambouillet crossbred ewe. The other is a three-way cross, an ewe that is produced by breeding the white faced western to a black faced ram, either Hampshire or Suffolk.

Either of these types will develop into large ewes weighing 150 pounds or more, many of them passing 175 pounds in weight. They should shear 8 to 12 pounds of $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ blood wool, and should produce at least 7 lamb crops during their productive life.

Experimental results, as well as farmer experience, has proven that the northwestern ewe, in addition to developing good size, have other characteristics that equal or excel native ewes as follows:

- Shear 2 to 4 pounds more wool; have more vigor and vitality; more longevity — good for about 2 more lamb crops; with good feed and management will drop an average of 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ lambs per ewe; are comparatively free of internal parasites when purchased; are excellent mothers, and lambs out of northwestern ewes, when bred to meaty mutton type rams, will produce more pounds of lamb per ewe. Lambs will grade just as high as lambs from native ewes.

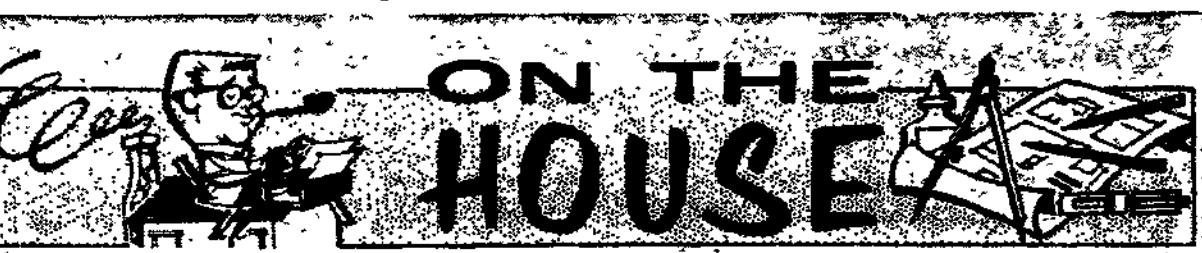

Kill Bagworms In June

Bagworms feed on a wide variety of trees and shrubs, both evergreens and deciduous. Plants commonly attacked are arborvitae, spruce, maple, and sycamore. Bagworms go through the winter as eggs within the old bags that hang on the trees. Eggs hatch in early June, and the young worms feed on the foliage and soon construct a silken bag about them.

It is essential to control the bagworms while they are still small because the poisons are rather ineffective upon the larger worms.

For control use 3 tablespoons of lead arsenate, plus $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of flour, or 4 tablespoons of 25 per cent malathion wettable powder, or 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons of 50 per cent malathion emulsion to 1 gallon of water. Spray infested shrubs thoroughly about June 10 to 20.

Terraces and patios need planters to add that touch of green. The handy husband can make them in a few hours at little expense.

Here's one, designed for construction in the home workshop, composed of three tapered boxes, each nesting inside the other.

And if you want to make life easier for the little woman, affix the planter to rubber-wheeled casters to make it mobile; no more tugging and shoving, then, to move a flower box, heavy with earth, from one location to another.

A happy choice of lumber would be western red cedar beveled siding. This wood is inexpensive, has a natural resistance to rot, and has a long life, whether painted or unfinished.

Here's the step by step procedure:

Buy four eight-foot lengths of the beveled siding. It comes in $9\frac{1}{2}$ -inch widths. Beveled siding is $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick on the top edge and tapers to a thickness of $\frac{1}{4}$ inch at the bottom. Also buy one piece of exterior grade fir plywood about 24 by 24 inches. Most lumber yards will cut it to size.

Slight Miter Needed

Now rough cut 12 pieces from the siding, each piece 22 inches in length. Each piece then must be cut with a slight miter at each end for a taper so the boxes will nest.

There are two ways to do it: (1) if you have a miter jig, cut one end at an angle of eight degrees, the other end at an angle of five degrees. Or (2) mark a point on the bottom edge 1 $\frac{3}{16}$ inches in from one end and another point 1 $\frac{15}{16}$ of an inch in from the other end.

Cutting at an angle across these points from the top end edges will give you the eight and five-degree cuts.

As you assemble the four sections of each of the three boxes, lap the eight-degree end over the five-degree end in a "continuous lap" method. The result will be a uniform taper.

Put the sections together first with a single nail at each corner. Then join them permanently with two-inch No. 7 brass flathead or oval head screws and brass "finishing" washers.

Cedar is strong cedar but tends to split, so take pains to drill through the overlapping ends with a bit only slightly smaller than the shank of the screw. Use two screws for each bottom corner of each box; one screw about an

OFFER BILLION IN NEW BONDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury is offering to sell a billion dollars in long-term bonds while refinancing other indebtedness.

Plans to accept subscriptions for the long-term issue June 2 were announced Thursday.

At the same time, the Treasury said it was offering two shorter term securities in exchange for $9\frac{1}{2}$ billion dollars in notes and bonds maturing June 15. Holders of these expiring securities have the option of accepting the new securities or receiving cash.

Officials said they were borrowing new cash now in hopes of delaying future cash borrowing until after July, the first month of the new fiscal year.

The new bond, to be dated June 3, will run for 26 years and 11 months and will mature May 15, 1985. Although it will carry a 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent interest rate, the effective yield will be cut to 3.22 per cent by selling each \$100 of the bonds for \$100.50.

DISORDERS OF STOMACH FOUND BY PILL RADIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — A radio that can be swallowed in pill form offers a new and better aid for studying disorders of the stomach and intestines.

Drs. John T. Farrar and James S. Bernstein said this today in a report prepared for a meeting of the American Gastroenterological Assn.

The two New York doctors said the radio pill is designed to record pressures inside the gastrointestinal tract—pressures related to muscular contraction and distention. When there is too much contraction or distention, the normal pressure picture changes.

In the past, study of these pressures required passage of long tubes through the mouth, nose or rectum.

Swallow Plastic Capsule
But the radio pill does it this way:

A patient swallows a plastic capsule a little more than an inch long and two-fifths of an inch in diameter.

Inside the capsule is a miniature transistor-type radio transmitter, equipped with a pressure-sensitive diaphragm.

As the pill passes down along the gastrointestinal tract, it detects the pressures and broadcasts them to a radio receiver outside.

The pressures are shown on an oscilloscope—something like a TV picture tube — and recorded permanently on paper. The pill is eliminated from the body with natural waste products.

Describing its trial on 16 subjects, the doctors said the radio pill permits prolonged recording of pressures "in previously almost inaccessible areas," such as the lower end of the small intestine and the ascending portion of the large bowel.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Leader has called for bids June 26 for a 7,500-foot channel-dredging operation along the Connoquenessing Creek in Butler.

The channel improvement project was described as an emergency measure to minimize the threat of flood damage in Butler city and township.

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Butler County firm has submitted the unofficial low bid of $4,608,891 to the State Highways Dept. for construction of the Ebersburg Bypass in Cambria County.

Masuda Construction Co., Evans City, submitted the bid to construct the road which will carry about 10 miles of U.S. Route 22 past the borough of Ebersburg.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mrs. Rose Mary Reider, 25, of St. Marys, was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of embezzling $1,700 from the Elk County National Bank of Ridgway.

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Frank Yeager, 60, of Uniontown R.D. 3, shot a woman to death with a rifle in her nearby Little Brownfield home Friday and fatally wounded himself with the same weapon.

Coroner W. Ralston McGee of Fayette County, who issued a murder-suicide verdict, said Yeager had been keeping company with the woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Bowers, about 45.

McGee said neighbors told him Mrs. Bowers, who had been separated from her husband for about 12 years, and Yeager had quarreled violently in the past.

1ST NON-BOOTH ELECTED HEAD OF VOLUNTEERS

By TOM HENSHAW

Associated Press Staff Writer

Depression breadlines were forming when 24-year-old John F. McMahon Jr. abandoned a promising career in the infant industrial catering business to take up the family profession.

"I was doing better financially than I ever have since," he says. "If I had stayed I probably would be a retired millionaire right now. But there are things more important than money."

The thing more important than money to McMahon is the Volunteers of America. This past week, he became the first non-Booth to be elected commander of the 52-year-old religious social welfare organization.

Founded in 1896

The VOA, a strictly American offshoot of the British Salvation Army, was founded in 1896 by Mary and Ballington Booth. McMahon succeeds their son Gen. Charles Brandon Booth as its fourth commander.

It doesn't seem strange at all to McMahon that he should give up a business career to devote his life to the Volunteers. Like his predecessor, he was virtually born into the organization. Booth, too, left for a while.

When McMahon was 3, his father John F. Sr. joined the outfit as a pioneer officer in Texas. His mother Rose joined at the same time. As a teen-ager, the younger McMahon beat the drum and played saxophone at street corner services.

Change To Professional

At 47, he has spent nearly 24 years in the Volunteers, the last 10 as national field secretary, second in command to the retiring Gen. Booth.

In his time, McMahon has lived through vast changes in the field of social work. He notes particularly the transition from the eager amateur worker to the professional trained to a high degree of specialization.

McMahon himself is a trained social worker. He attended the University of Louisville and continued his studies at the University of Wisconsin and Marquette while he was associate executive.

Another change, observes McMahon, is the increasing government participation in social work. He approves of it. He foresees the day when the government and private agencies such as the VOA will function as partners.

Add a couple of tablespoons of capers and a few more of diced cream sauce and serve with baked fish fillets.

Youth Is Killed When Car Upsets

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A young man who police said may have been drag racing was killed Friday night as his auto crashed in nearby Cuddy.

He was Peter W. Ritchey, 21, of Collier Twp. His car left the road, struck a pole, overturned and slid on its top about 100 feet into another car.

John Hennick, 30, of Washington R. 3, driving the second car, his wife and five children were injured slightly.

Police Chief Armiel Kelly said Thomas Mannerling, 28, of Cuddy, told him he and Ritchey had been drag racing before the crash but not at that time.

Mannerling was turned over to county detectives under $10,000 bond pending a coroner's inquest.

PUBLIC SALE

Of Valuable Real Estate and

Personal Property

FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1958

The undersigned, Executor of the Will of Alice Dougherty, deceased, late of the Borough of Gettysburg, will offer at public sale on the premises of South Mountain Fairgrounds, located along the State Highway one mile Northwest of the Borough of Gettysburg, Adams County, Pennsylvania, on Friday evening, June 6, 1958, at 6 o'clock P.M., D.S.T., the following:

DISORDERS OF STOMACH FOUND BY PILL RADIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — A radio that can be swallowed in pill form offers a new and better aid for studying disorders of the stomach and intestines.

Drs. John T. Farrar and James S. Bernstein said this today in a report prepared for a meeting of the American Gastroenterological Assn.

The two New York doctors said the radio pill is designed to record pressure inside the gastrointestinal tract—pressures related to muscular contraction and distention. When there is too much contraction or distention, the normal pressure picture changes.

In the past, study of these pressures required passage of long tubes through the mouth, nose or rectum.

Swallow Plastic Capsule

But the radio pill does it this way.

A patient swallows a plastic capsule a little more than an inch long and two-fifths of an inch in diameter.

Inside the capsule is a miniature transistor-type radio transmitter, equipped with a pressure-sensitive diaphragm.

As the pill passes down along the gastrointestinal tract, it detects the pressures and broadcasts them to a radio receiver outside.

The pressures are shown on an oscilloscope—something like a TV picture tube—and are recorded permanently on paper. The pill is eliminated from the body with natural waste products.

Describing its trial on 16 subjects, the doctors said the radio pill permits prolonged recording of pressures "in previously almost inaccessible areas" such as the lower end of the small intestine and the ascending portion of the large bowel.

Trooper Edward Mackiw, 31, of Carnegie, died of multiple injuries in St. Clair Hospital about an hour after the accident.

Officers said Mackiw was hit by an auto operated by George R. Currin, 33, of Wilkensburg, a half mile west of the parkway's Green Tree interchange. Three were no serious injuries in the four-car collision.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Robert E. Blaney, 32, of Pittsburgh, is under federal indictment on charges of impersonating an FBI agent and illegally obtaining nearly $2,800 from four Beaver County immigrant families. The indictment was handed down Thursday.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader has called for bids June 26 for a 7,500-foot channel-dredging operation along the Connoquessing Creek in Butler.

The channel improvement project was described as an emergency measure to minimize the threat of flood damage in Butler city and township.

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Butler County firm has submitted the unofficial low bid of $4,608,891 to the State Highways Dept. for construction of the Ebensburg Bypass in Cambria County.

M. A. Shuda Construction Co., Evans City, submitted the bid to construct the road which will carry about 10 miles of U.S. Route 22 past the borough of Ebensburg.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Rose Mary Reider, 25, of St. Marys, was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of embezzling $1,700 from the Elk County National Bank of Ridgway.

UNIONTOWN Pa. (AP)—Frank Yeager, 60, of Uniontown R.D. 3, shot a woman to death with a rifle in her nearby Little Brownfield home Friday and fatally wounded himself with the same weapon.

Coroner W. Ralston McGee of Fayette County, who issued a murder-suicide verdict, said Yeager had been keeping company with the woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Bowers, about 45.

McGee said neighbors told him Mrs. Bowers, who had been separated from her husband for about 12 years, and Yeager had quarreled violently in the past.

PUBLISHER DIES

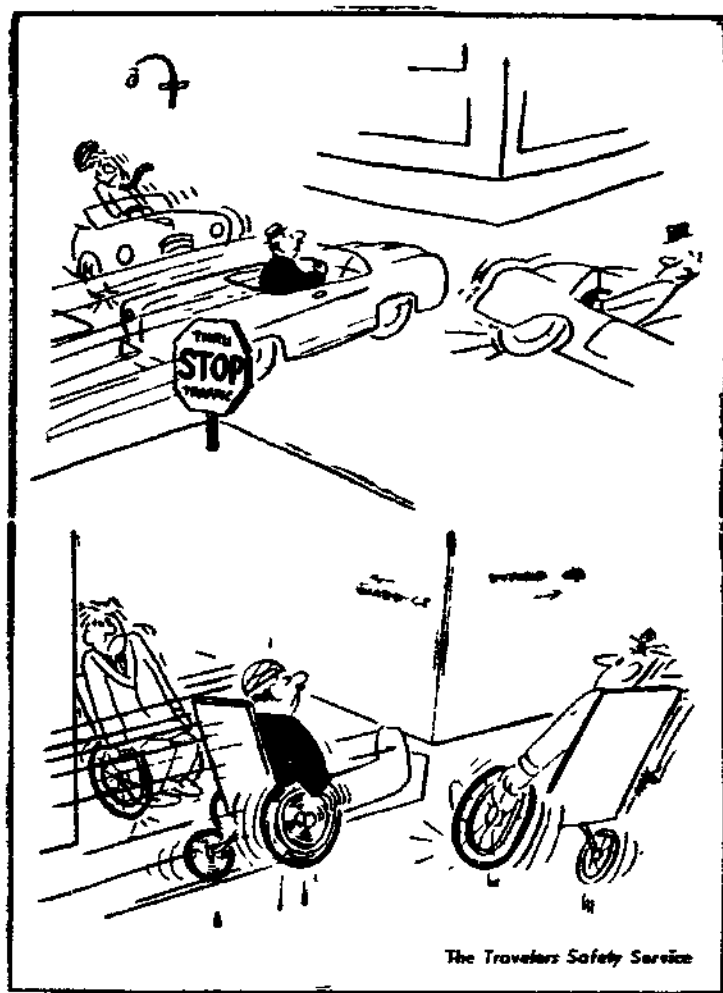

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Death has ended the career of James Darling, 73, publisher since 1937 of the "Farm and Dairy," weekly newspaper circulating in the Ohio-Pennsylvania-West Virginia tri-state area.

Darling was stricken with a heart ailment Thursday in the Youngstown University library. He was chairman of the Lyle Print Co in Salem, Ohio, which publishes the farm paper.

1ST NON-BOOTH ELECTED HEAD OF VOLUNTEERS

By TOM HENSHAW

Associated Press Staff Writer
Depression breadlines were forming when 24-year-old John F. McMahon Jr. abandoned a promising career in the infant industrial catering business to take up the family profession.

"I was going better financially than I ever have since," he says. "If I had stayed I probably would be a retired millionaire right now. But there are things more important than money."

The thing more important than money to McMahon is the Volunteers of America. This past week, he became the first non-Booth to be elected commander of the 52-year-old religious social welfare organization.

Founded in 1896

The VOA, a strictly American offshoot of the British Salvation Army, was founded in 1896 by Mary and Ballington Booth. McMahon succeeds their son Gen. Charles Brandon Booth as its fourth commander.

It doesn't seem strange at all to McMahon that he should give up a business career to devote his life to the Volunteers. Like his predecessor, he was virtually born into the organization. Booth, too, left at for a while.

When McMahon was 3, his father John F. Sr. joined the outfit as pioneer officer in Texas. His mother Rose joined at the same time. As a teen-ager, the younger McMahon beat the drum and played saxophone at street corner services.

Change To Professional
At 47, he has spent nearly 24 years in the Volunteers, the last 10 as national field secretary, second in command to the retiring Gen. Booth.

In his time, McMahon has lived through vast changes in the field of social work. He notes particularly the transition from the eager amateur worker to the professional trained to a high degree.

PLANE CRASHES INTO FRONT YARD

CONWAY, Pa. (AP) — Spinning out of control as it tried to land, a small private plane crashed Friday night in the front yard of a home in this Beaver County town. Two men in the plane were injured.

Russell Simmons, 32, of Beaver R. 1, the pilot, and Leroy Savio, 19, of Vanport, were listed in good condition at Rochester General Hospital.

Witnesses said the plane, a two-seater P-73 surplus Air Force trainer, lost air speed as it came in at the Pittsburgh-Conway Airport here and went into a spin. It struck a utility pole and landed upside down in the yard of the home of Thomas Polce, about 100 yards from an airport runway. A wing of the craft struck the front door of the house and caused other minor damage. No one was home.

The plane cut electric wires as it came down and power was off in the neighborhood for several hours.

Add a couple of tablespoons of capers and a few more of diced canned pimiento to a well-seasoned cream sauce and serve with baked fish fillets.

of specialization

McMahon himself is a trained social worker. He attended the University of Louisville and continued his studies at the University of Wisconsin and Marquette while he was associate executive.

Another change observes McMahon, is the increasing government participation in social work. He approves of it. He foresees the day when the government and private agencies such as the VOA will function as partners.

Youth Is Killed When Car Upsets

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A young man who police said may have been drag racing was killed Friday night as his auto crashed in nearby Cuddy.

He was Peter W. Ritchey, 21, of Collier Twp. His car left the road, struck a pole, overturned and slid on its top about 100 feet into another car.

John Hennick 30 of Washington R. 3, driving the second car, his wife and five children were injured slightly.

Police Chief Armiel Kelly said Thomas Mannering, 28, of Cuddy, told him he and Ritchey had been drag racing before the crash but not at that time.

Mannering was turned over to county detectives under $10,000 bond pending a coroner's inquest.
